Foreword

Central's seal, which adorns its yearbook is an object of beauty and each component part of it has a meaning of its own. Because the seal so represents Central, the Centripetal staff will endeavor, by using it as the theme of the annual, to show how each part is truly an embodiment of the faculty, students, classes, organizations and sports.

First, the shield of guidance, composed of the crown and banner, stands for the faculty for we feel that these men and women, under Christ, crown our achievement.

The petals, the shield of unity, portrays the student body who have come from the various parishes and are unified in our school.

Next, CCHS, or the monogram, which represents the school, introduces the classes, the heart of any school where achievement is made.

The Celtic Cross, which suggests endurance, is a fitting symbol for the "Fighting Irish" and therefore introduces our sports.

In the Celtic Cross rests the Castle of Spain, the coat of arms of the diocese of Toledo. In Central's seal this symbol personifies leadership which is fostered through the extra-curricular activities of our school's program.

Thus the Crown, petals, monogram, Celtic Cross and Castle form the ideal seal of Central Catholic High School.

Central's

Coat of Arms

Dedication

From its conception as Cathedral High to its birth as Central Catholic High on Page and Cherry Streets and finally to its maturity at its present location, Central has always been deeply indebted to the Sisters who have given so much of life, devotion and energy to the betterment of this school.

When Central opened its doors in 1920, seven Ursuline, one Sylvania Franciscan, and two Notre Dame Sisters were present to guide the youth of yesteryear toward their chosen careers.

1921 found the Mercy Sisters enrolled on the faculty roster and in 1929 two more orders—the Tiffin Franciscans and the Joliet Franciscan Sisters joined the staff to help guide Central through the days of the depression and World War II.

With the close of World War II, a new wing dedicated to the memory of those who lost their lives in the war, was added to the school and, consequently, more Sisters were called upon to constitute the ever growing teaching staff.

With the coming of the Grey Nuns in 1953 and the Felician Sisters in 1955, Central's faculty roll composed of fifty-five Religious Sisters reached an all time high.

Some of the Sisters, once teaching on our faculty, have been called to their eternal reward while others have entered new fields. Though they are no longer at Central, their zeal and loyalty still echo through the halls, setting forth a tradition that has been accepted and followed by all those Sisters who taught and are still instructing Central's student body.

It is with gratitude that we dedicate this, The 1956 Centripetal, to all the Sisters of Central Catholic High.

Dear Central Catholic High

We who have known security at Central Catholic are now, of necessity, leaving its portals. Central which has given us four years of careful training, by dedicated men and women, is no longer to be an integral part of our every day life. Can we, in all fairness, leave it without expressing our deepest gratitude—we who have obtained so much and returned so little.

With an impression of awe caused by her reputation for learning and her magnificence of structure, we entered her halls. As we leave, four years later, this feeling has not been diminished but increased. The reason—we now know what lies within these stately walls.

Throughout our four years, in our class work, in our sports and in our organizations, you have daily instilled, in us, principles of Christian living. In leaving you, Central Catholic, we promise to be loyal alumni sustaining and upholding the ideals you imparted.

Retreat

Each Student Alone With God

Believing that students should receive every spiritual advantage, there is held annually at Central, a student retreat. In the three day period there are spiritual exercises, talks, and periods for private meditation.

The students are encouraged to keep complete silence and the atmosphere is therefore helpful to them in making honest appraisals of themselves and their past lives and firm resolutions of amendment for the future.

Adequate opportunities are given for confession and the reception of our Eucharistic Lord.

The retreat this year was under the direction of Father Erpenbeck for the boys and Father Colnon for the girls. These Jesuit Fathers, who have had much experience in giving retreats, gave the students much to think about during the retreat. The large number of confessions and communions were evidence of the success.

Religion

Powerful Force In Combating Crime

With the recent increase in juvenile crime it is easy to see how necessary it is for the student to have a thorough background of religious training. At Central, Religion is stressed to fill the need, and the active practice of Religion becomes an everyday part of the student's life.

Comprehensive and complete, the course for the first three years treats chiefly with all the works and all the glories of the Triune God.

In the fourth year seniors receive instruction on marriage and courtship, religious life, and the single state.

The senior year also presents the Blessed Virgin as a model of spiritual perfection for all to follow in whatever field or vocation they may enter.

The entire four year course prepares the student not only for the active practice of his faith but also shows him how to defend it from all forms of attack.

English

Adds Culture To Curriculums

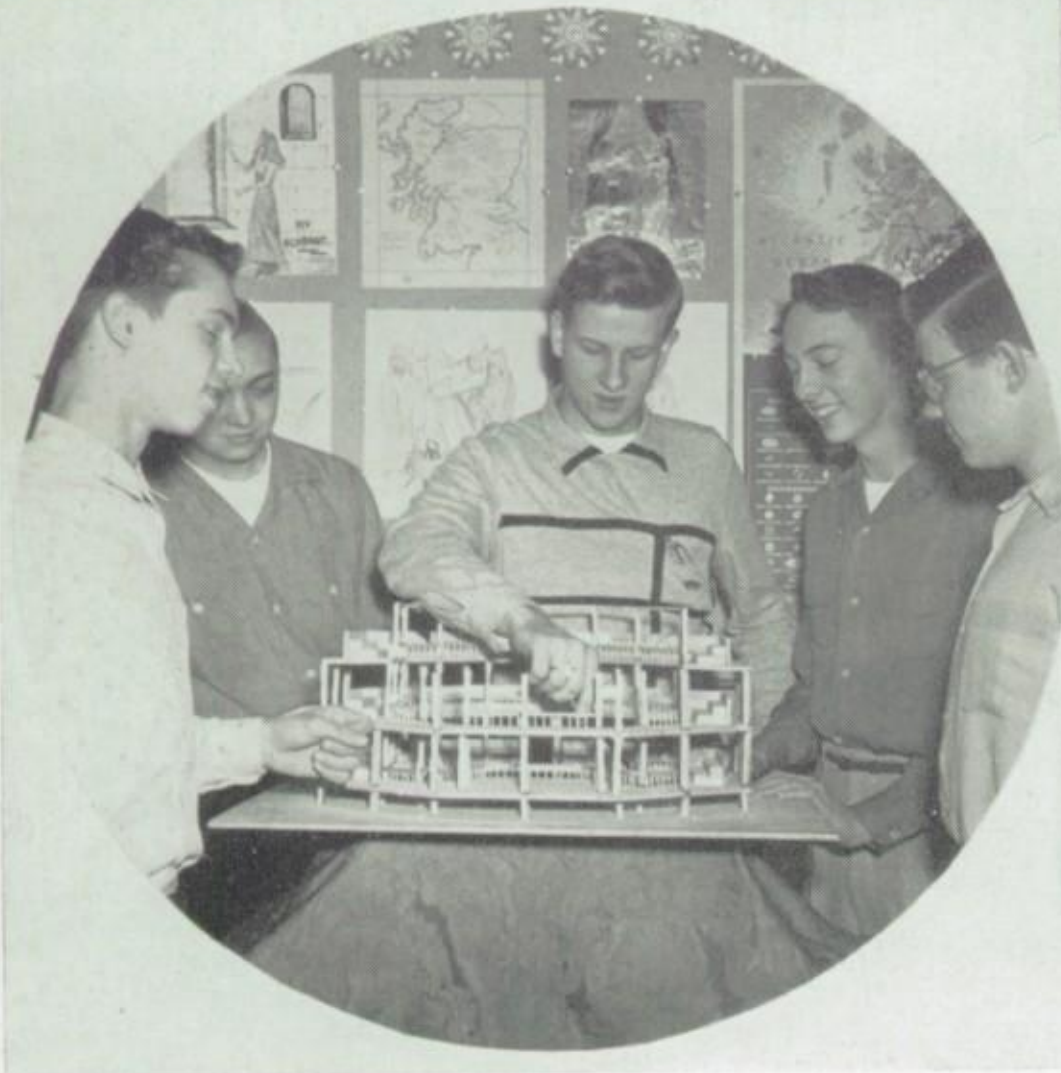

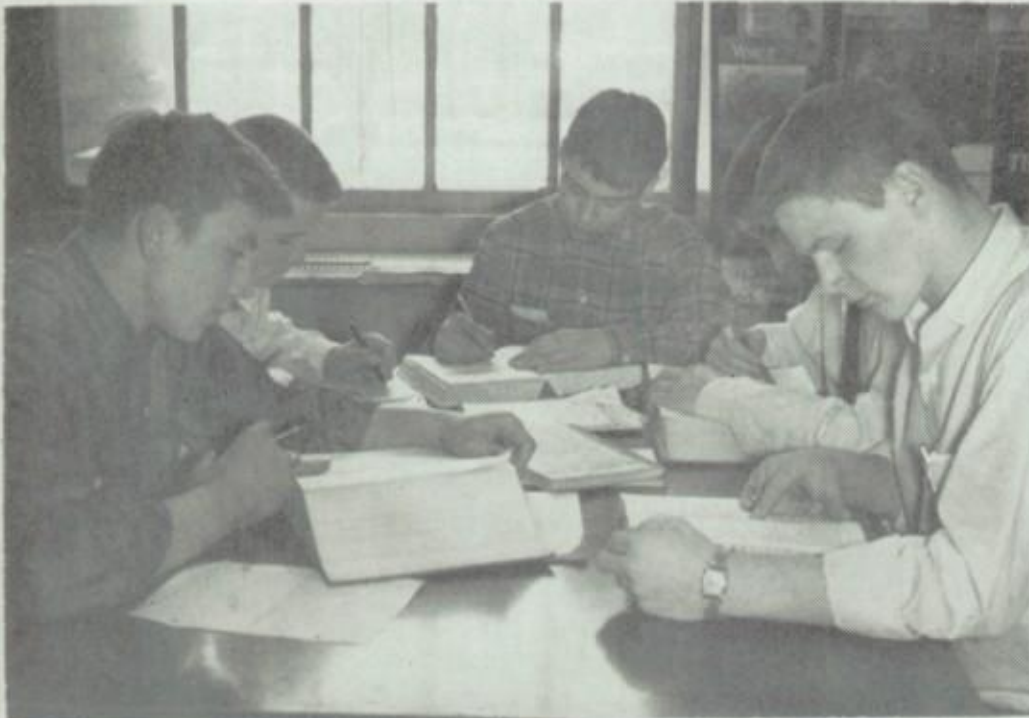

Through the English classes every phase of the study of our language is offered the students in oral and written expression. A four years course of literature is likewise provided as a cultural subject of the school curriculum.

The foundation for the English course is laid in the freshman and sophomore years with emphasis on grammar. Each literature anthology includes a complete novel for study by the students.

Continuing the grammar course, the juniors study a complete course in American literature. In addition, juniors are given practical experience in preparing the research essay.

To the seniors, English literature as well as senior composition, journalism, and public speaking, are offered.

1. Can't find Shakespeare in this!
3. The Globe Theater reconstructed.

2. Margie, Celia, and Martha arrange bulletin board.
4. Lives of American authors prove interesting.

1. Tom presents Christine to "public".
2. Jim evidently knows the answer to Quiz Master Mike's question.

Public Speaking

Opens Door To Social World

Public speaking—the door to the social world—develops in the students confidence, poise and the ability to appear before an audience. Panel discussions, demonstrations, tape recordings—methods used in the class—tend to foster these talents.

Frank must have conquered because he has undivided attention.

Latin

Language Offered For Learners

Latin is the classical language offered at Central. It has always been a learned person who could claim the ability to speak this language.

At Central, students have an opportunity to study this subject for four years which enables them to master the course. In the freshman year the basic rules of grammar and a basic vocabulary are taught. Caesar's account of the Gallic wars is the main study during the sophomore year supplemented by short Christian Latin selections. The more difficult rules of grammar are also taught in the second year. As juniors, the students study the Orations of Cicero together with selections from the Fathers of the Church, Holy Scripture, and hymns and prayers of the Church. Seniors learn to hold conversations in Latin besides translating the traditional classical work and the Historiae Sacrae Epitome.

Latin is the basic study for the priesthood and is also highly recommended in the study of medicine, law, and music.

German

Fascinating Two-Year Course

An industrious student, wishing to study a fascinating language, would make a wise choice in selecting Central's two-year German course.

Basic rules, vocabulary, and pronunciation are the main phases covered in the first year. During this time the language is thoroughly analyzed and becomes an exacting science. Before completing the second semester most of the students are able to understand and speak German in a simplified form.

The geography of the country, the life and customs of its people and their music, arts, and recreation are considered in the second year course. Modern German as an art, is stressed, along with an appreciation of the spirit and culture of the people.

Study of this language fosters international understanding and helps to promote and maintain the peace and unity which now exists between the citizens of Germany and the United States.

Neal explains the who, what, why, when of the German meeting in the gym.

Spanish

Promotes Understanding

A knowledge of Spanish will help to remove the provincial atmosphere of much of the American mind, for through the study of a foreign language comes sympathy for those that speak it. A closer understanding of our neighbors in the Western Hemisphere will help us to avoid petty misunderstandings, commercial jealousy and social quarrels.

In order to satisfy the demands created by our geographical, economic and social situation in the New World, Spanish can be placed with English as the additional and alternate language of everyday life.

Therefore, the study of Spanish is encouraged at Central. The student has the opportunity of developing his ability to understand both the spoken and the written word.

History

Reveals Man's Accomplishments In The World's Progress

... And then General Scott crossed the Rio Grande.

The well known quotation, "History, the record of how well or how ill man has obeyed God", is, in short, a summary of the knowledge that the history department inculcates in the mind of its students. Throughout the various courses, Ancient, Modern, American History and National Problems, practically every phase of civilization is studied.

Ancient History assists the students in appreciating and evaluating the contributions of past cultures to our present day society. The study of civilization, since the Industrial Revolution, is presented to the sophomores in Modern History.

One full year of American History and one half year of Government are compulsory for the juniors and seniors, respectively. The study of these two subjects enables the students to understand America and helps him to be better equipped to perform the duties of an American citizen. Sociology and Economics, part of the history set-up, are both half year courses, and available to seniors who wish to know more about everyday civic problems.

Math

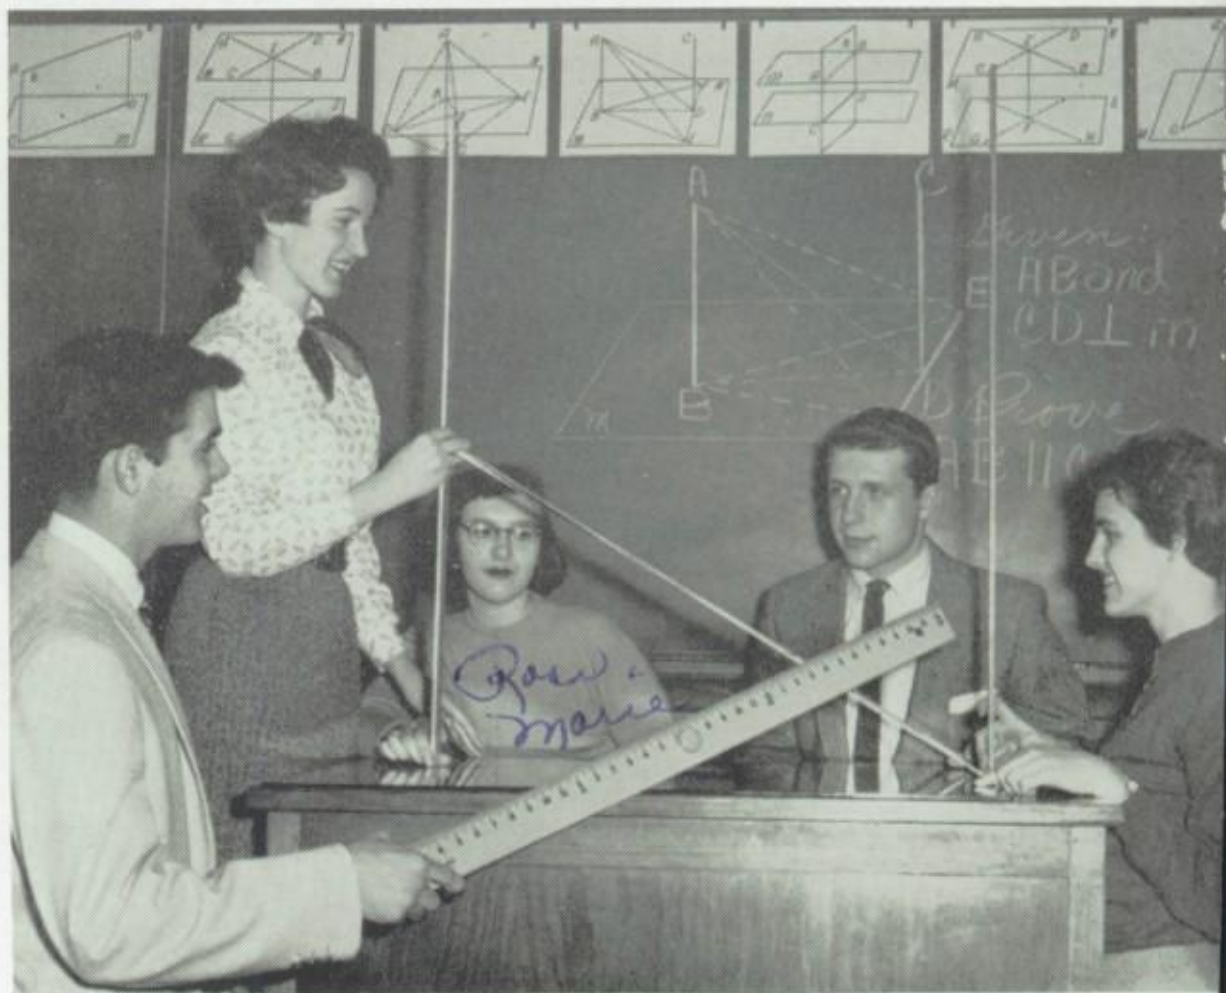

Exacting Science

From freshman algebra to trigonometry the opportunities for the study of mathematics at Central are numerous. Freshmen taking an academics or, scientific program, are presented with the basic principles of algebra including factoring and the solving of equations. The sophomore may take geometry which develops his analytical thinking and serves as a link from freshman to intermediate algebra.

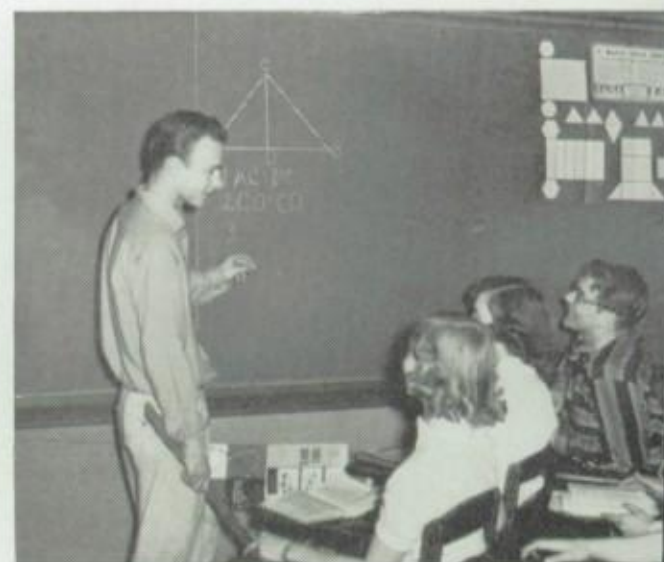

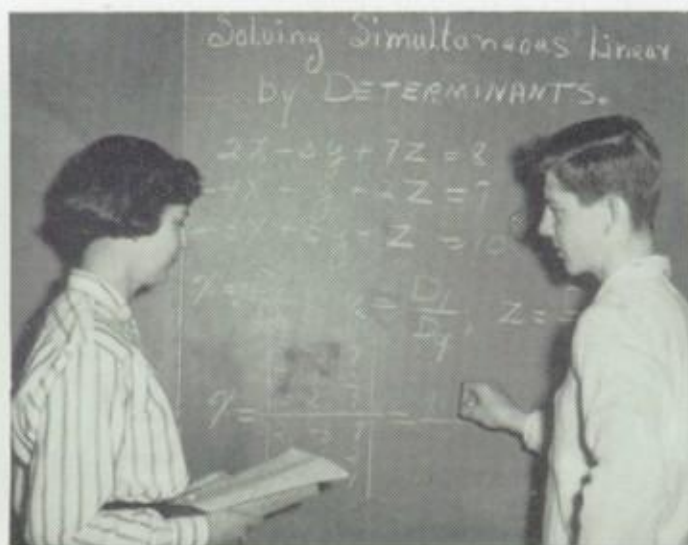

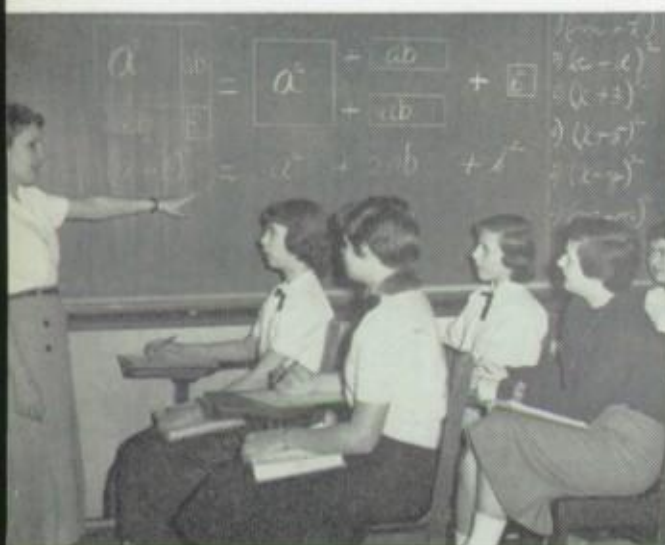

The science of numbers becomes more fascinating when the juniors delve into advanced algebra which deals with complicated formulas and equations.

Seniors who wish to continue a major in math are offered trigonometry, solid geometry or both.

To those whose interests are in the business line there are courses in Business Arithmetic and General Mathematics.

Can you prove the lines are parallel?

4. John looks for the log.

2. Don't you understand determinants?

3. Dave proves triangles congruent.
6. Seniors discuss trig problems.

Drafting

Stresses Precision

Four years of drafting are offered at Central with each year giving the student a greater sense of accuracy and precision in his work.

In the freshman year the fundamental applications of descriptive geometry and orthographic projection are presented.

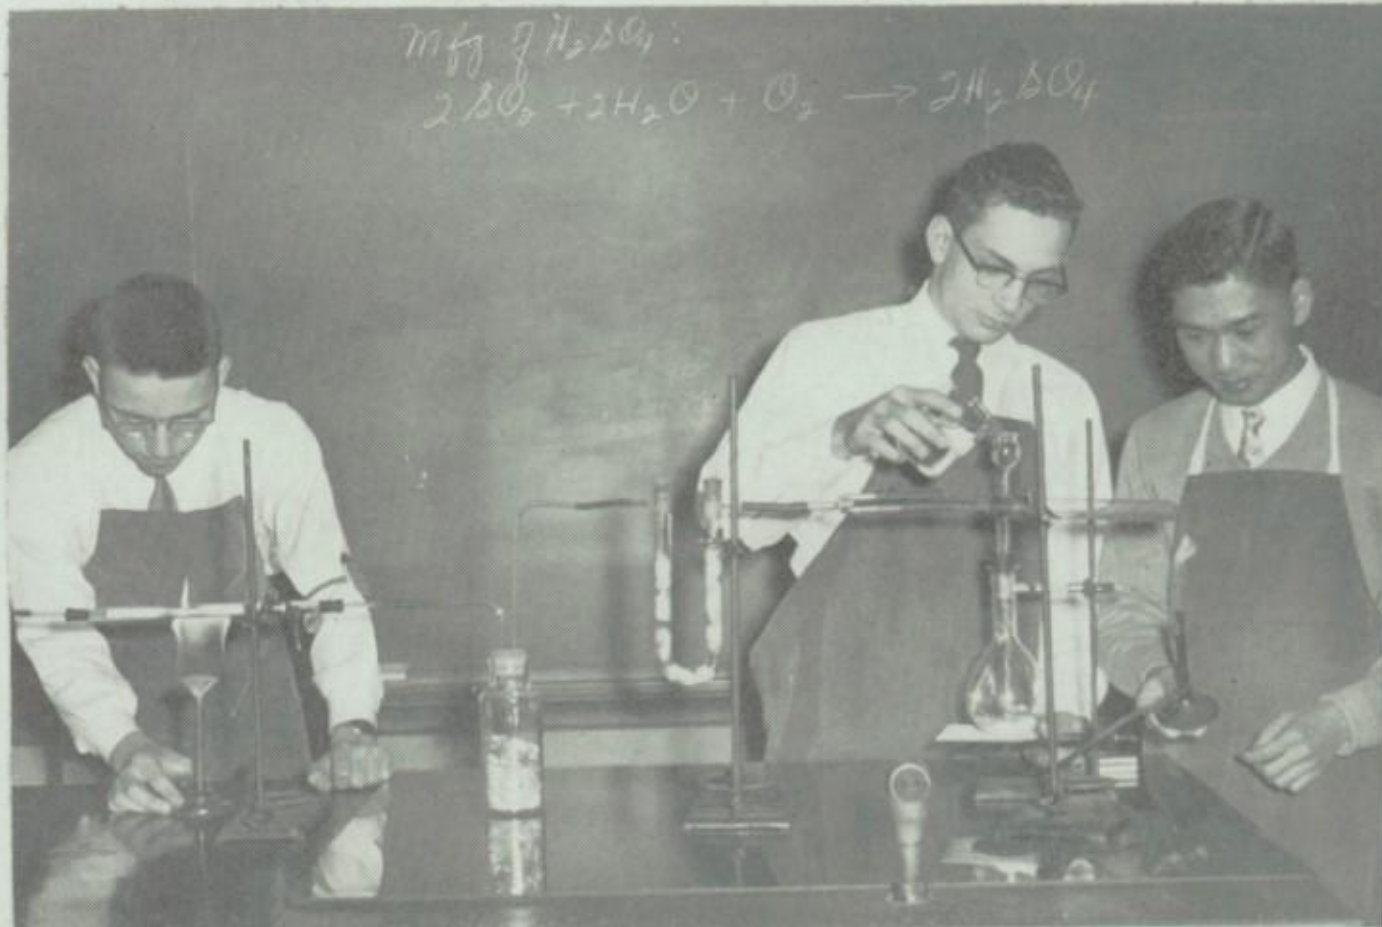

The detailing of machines, cam design, gearing and the slide rule are the principle objects of study for the sophomore. With this background the junior is ready to engage in various mechanical projects such as the detailed drawing of some large machines.

Reaching the senior year the student is ready for a course in civil engineering which includes surveying and the solving of some fundamental engineering problems.

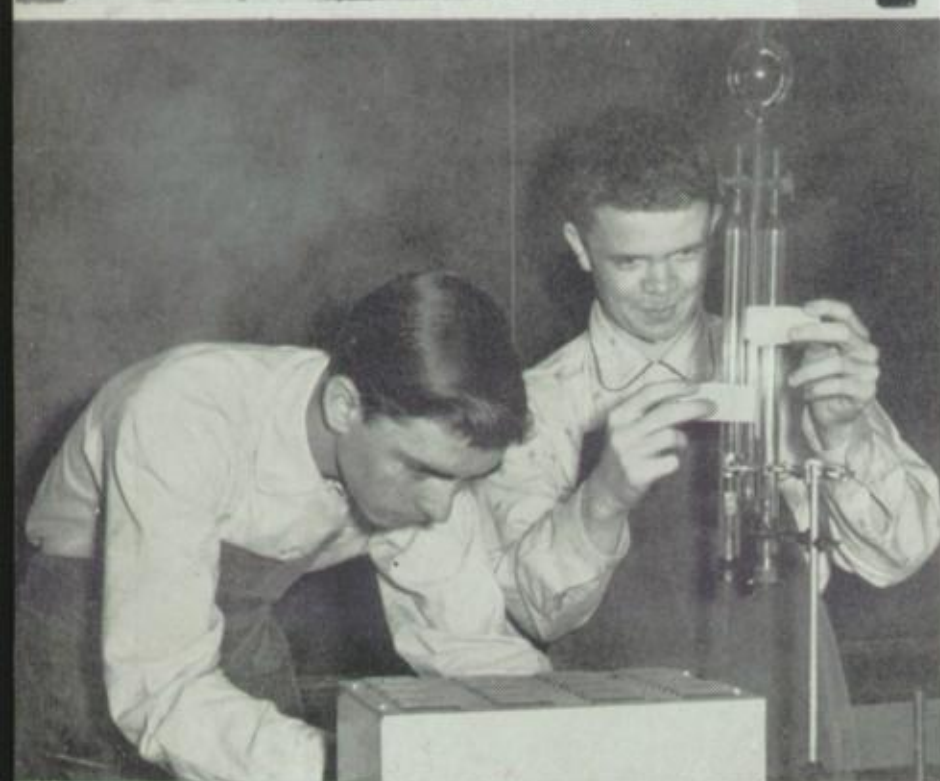

With this four year course the graduate may enter into future studies for engineering or obtain a job as a draftsman.

Chemistry

Influences Course of Life

Chemistry occupies a basic position in present day civilization. No matter what course a person chooses to follow in life, chemistry enters into the picture. The whole pattern of everyday life is shaped by it.

Scientists, engineers, doctors, and others find that chemistry influences their work. The subject has cultural as well as utilitarian value. One finds it impossible to be unaware of the omnipotence of God when considering the scientific laws which He established.

In the high school chemistry course, students become acquainted with some of the simpler chemical laws and their application by having three lecture periods and two double laboratory periods weekly.

Chemistry has given improved and new materials to make life easier, happier, and safer. New synthetic fabrics, easy to take care of, have taken their place with cotton, linen, and other established fabrics. New "miracle" medicines effect cures unheard of a few years ago. Chemistry has also improved materials already existing. New ways of making products have been devised by chemistry. Truthfully, the world is experiencing more comfortable and more healthful living through chemistry.

Physics

Explains God's Laws of Order

Physics is the study of matter and energy and the laws which control them. God placed these laws of behavior over all creation to preserve the order of the universe. Many of these laws are familiar to us. We know things fall if not supported and we know that fire is hot. But why? Physics endeavors to explain these principles. Through lectures and experiments, junior and senior physics students learn the basic principles of energy, heat, light, mechanics, sound, and electricity.

Twice weekly the physics classes hear a lecture by Mr. Fischer pertaining to the material being studied. The students also perform experiments to prove the principles they have learned. Movies, shown at regular intervals, explain how physics is used in science and industry.

Today, in this age of jets, rockets, and space travel, more and more people are becoming aware of the importance of physics as a basic science. Few of these modern day wonders could be accomplished if the planners and designers did not study the principles of physics.

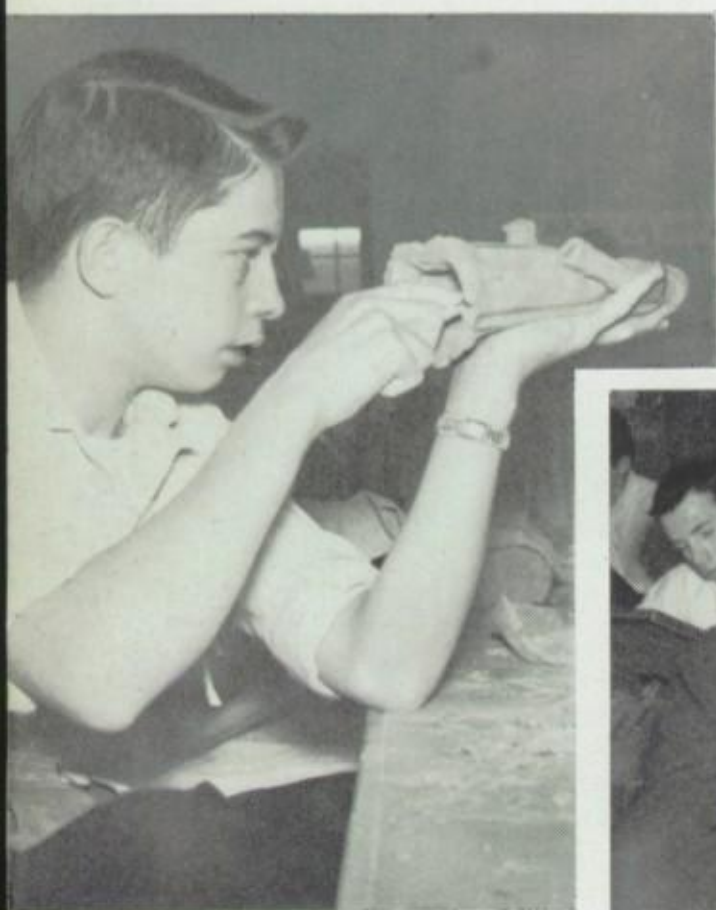

From this we can see how important physics is if we are to continue advancing.

Art

Love of The Beautiful

Any artistic abilities present in the boys of Central are developed and brought out by the help and direction which they receive in their art classes.

Work, with the many different phases presented, is the keynote of the art department. Skill and proficiency in woodcraft, leathercraft, oil painting, water coloring, ceramics, sculpturing, and metalcraft are nurtured and developed, not only for the material value, but also for the aesthetic gratification they will provide.

The boys taking this course are able to come closer to God by creating articles of beauty from matter which he has placed on this earth for their use.

Art

Right Reason In Making

The work done in the girls' art department is based on a principle given to us by St. Thomas Aquinas. He has defined art as "right reason in making". All projects done by the girls are considered in the light of this definition.

Central offers a four year course to any girl with the ability and an interest in art. During this time the student is taught the elements and principles of art in art structure, water and oil painting, ceramics, crafts, and silk screening. Color theory is stressed and liturgical art is studied thoroughly.

An art course helps to complete a well rounded education by inculcating in those who take it a love for the Good, the True and the Beautiful.

Biology

Presents Nature's Intricacies And Patterns

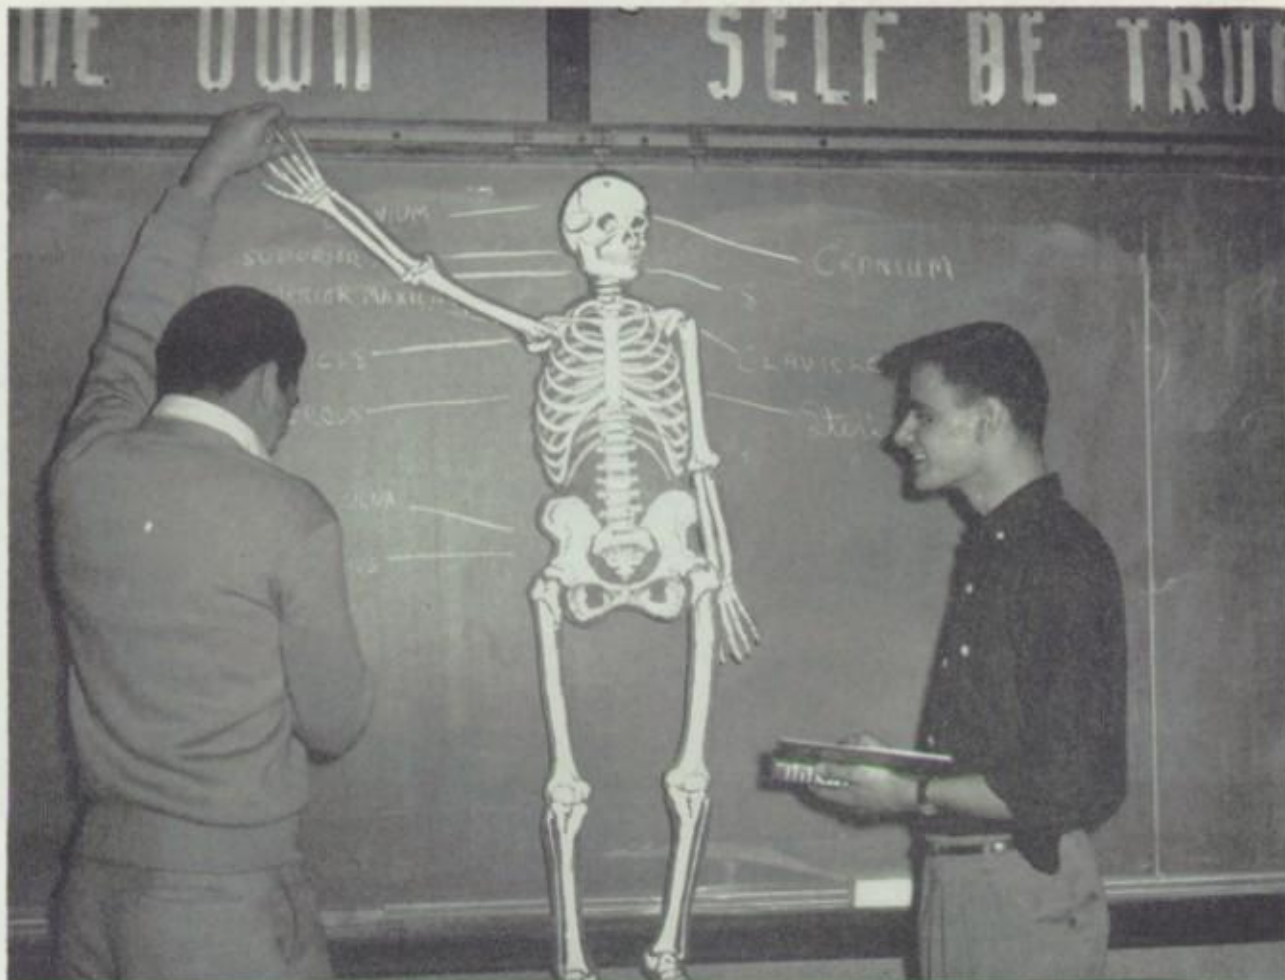

The study of God's intricate designs in nature presents itself to the student in an interesting pattern in biology.

This course begins with the study of the primitive form of life on earth, the plant. It continues with the more complicated forms of plants and animals, and completes itself with the most complex being on earth, man.

The systematic study of plant and animal groups shows the relationship of all living things, the development of life through the various stages of complexity and the wide variety of organisms which compose our living world.

Observations are made throughout the year from which practical knowledge is derived. Besides the study of heredity and conservation, the basic material is enriched by references to new developments in "Biology in Atomic Age" such as: Radioactive atoms in medicine, in agriculture, and in education research.

The course gives the student a broad concept of life and a fund of information which enables him to better understand, more thoroughly appreciate, more thoughtfully adjust himself to the environment in which he lives and so far as possible, control it.

Mike, who's your friend?

Physiology

Body Functions

Through a stimulating course in physiology the juniors and seniors learn of the body's composition and functions. With the knowledge the students acquire in the course they are able to enjoy more fully a healthy and happy life.

It is one of the most practical subjects in the scientific course because it increases the students knowledge as well as offering valuable experience for doctors, nurses, and home economists.

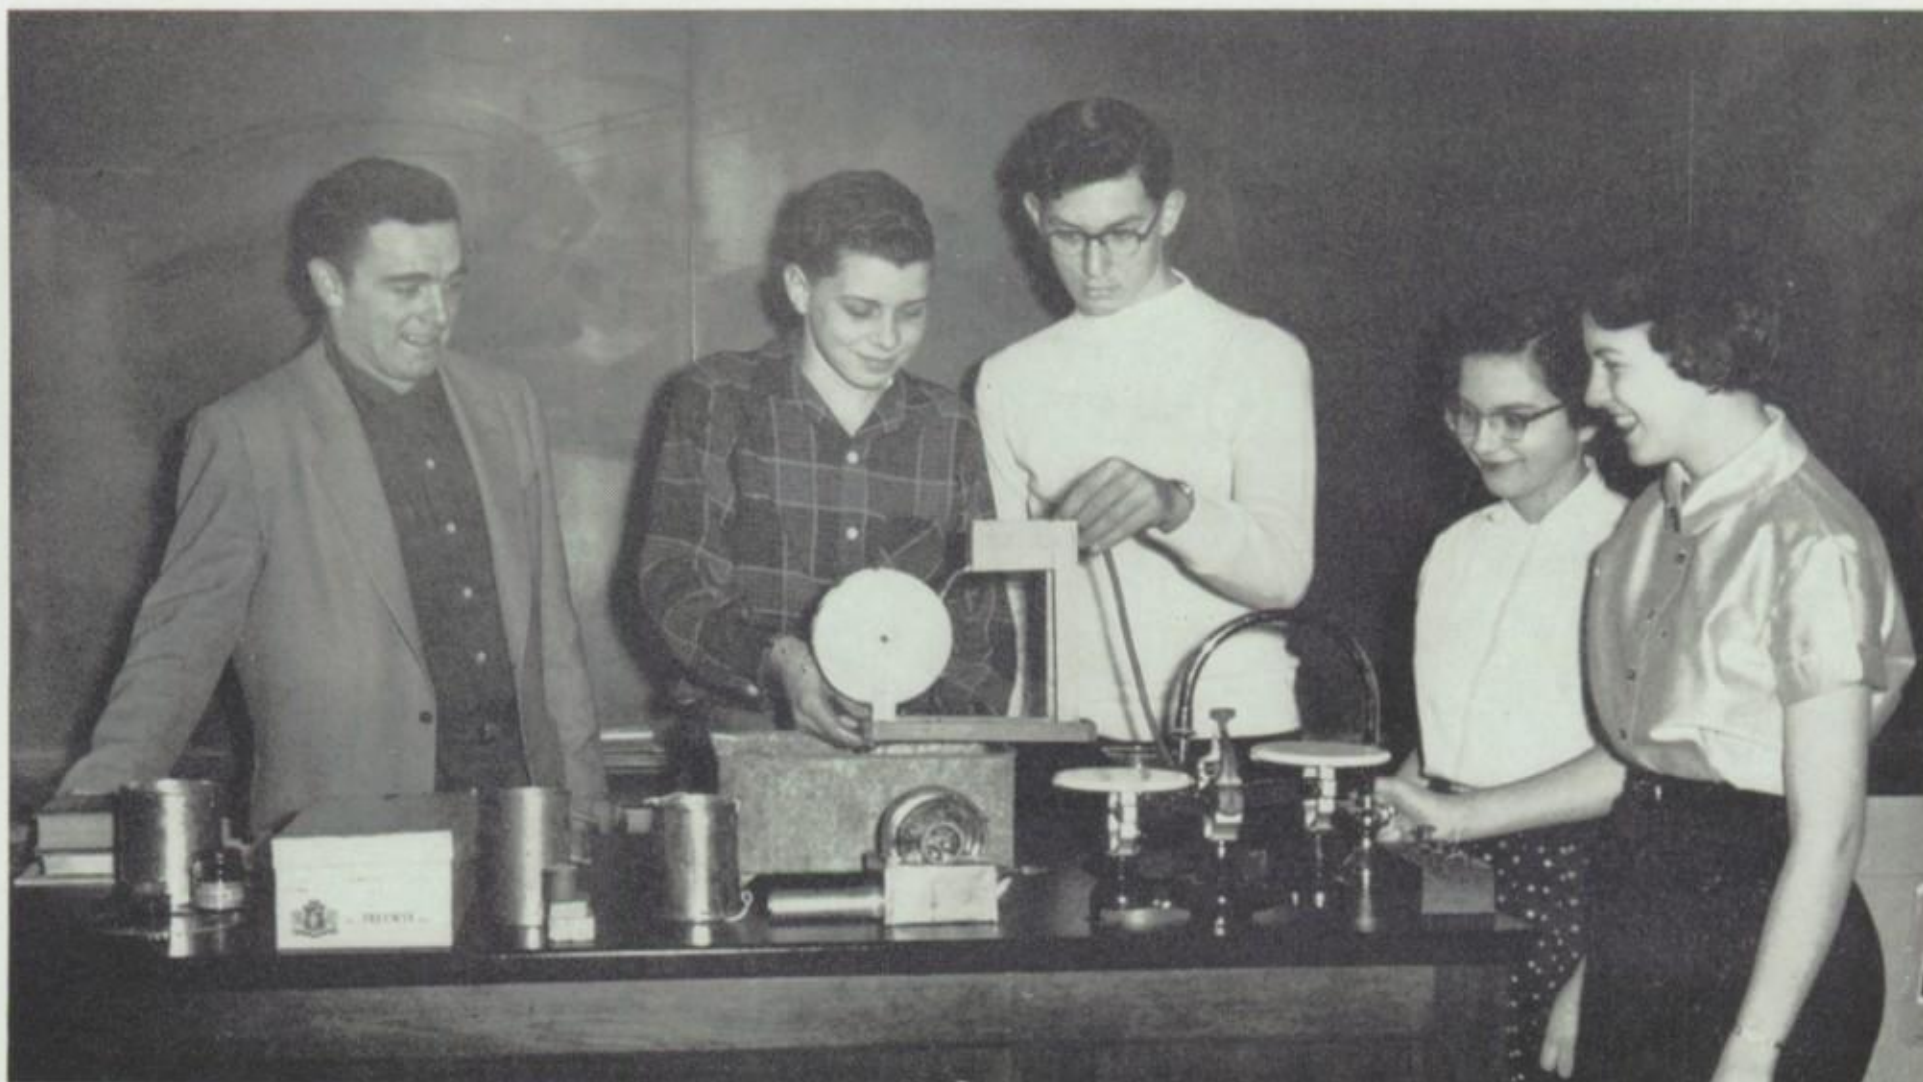

General Science

Develops Interest In Scientific Field

The purpose of this subject which is offered to freshmen is to acquaint them with the scientific discoveries which develop from day to day in this modern scientific age. The course also acquaints them with the science department at Central.

Through the study of general science the world will mean more to the student, because he will have a better understanding of the wonders it contains.

What's the matter? Did it spring a leak?

Central future homemakers pass in review.

Home Economics

Creates Happiness In Home Living

Correct understanding and appreciation of family living, which is the heart of the American Way of Life, is presented to the homemaking students as one of the principle factors in Home Economics.

Home Economics prepares the student to make a success of her life, by teaching her the fundamentals of keeping a home in good working order and caring for children. In regard to child care she is taught to place importance on acceptance.

Since "the happy family is the healthy family", a girl learn how to plan for the various family get togethers, for provision of nutritious meals, and for the budgeting of the family finance, which is important today.

This course, dealing not only with the study of homemaking but also with a detailed plan of good grooming and clothing, benefits the student immensely in the task of finding happiness in home living.

Library

Guide To Research And Leisure Reading

Webster defines a library as a "building where an arranged collection of books is kept". Central's library system, run exactly like that of the public library, provides for its students and teachers a card catalogue whereby subject matter contained in such books as science, bibliography, fiction and history can be located in a matter of minutes.

One of the most important features of the library, however, is the reference room. It is in this room that students have a choice of over 200 different magazines to aid them in their various assignments, especially research essays.

This room is not just reserved for those with assignments; it may be used by anyone who cares to "read up" on various subjects or just to read for enjoyment's sake.

Commercial Department

Prepares Students For Business World

Bookkeeping, a one year course at CCHS, aims to develop traits of accuracy, neatness, thoroughness, and responsibility, and at the same time familiarizes the student with papers and forms commonly used in business transactions.

In Office Practice, besides the actual work on the machines, seniors take an extensive course in filing, business correspondence, and billing, the typing of legal and financial forms, and receive comprehensive instruction on job finding and job success.

Shorthand classes for both the first and second year students provide actual office work by the practice in taking dictation, transcribing, using proper English, correct spelling, word division, and punctuation.

In typewriting, the two year course develops occupational levels of competency in speed and production.

The first year student is required to type 30 to 40 correct words per minute while in the second year, 50 is the goal.

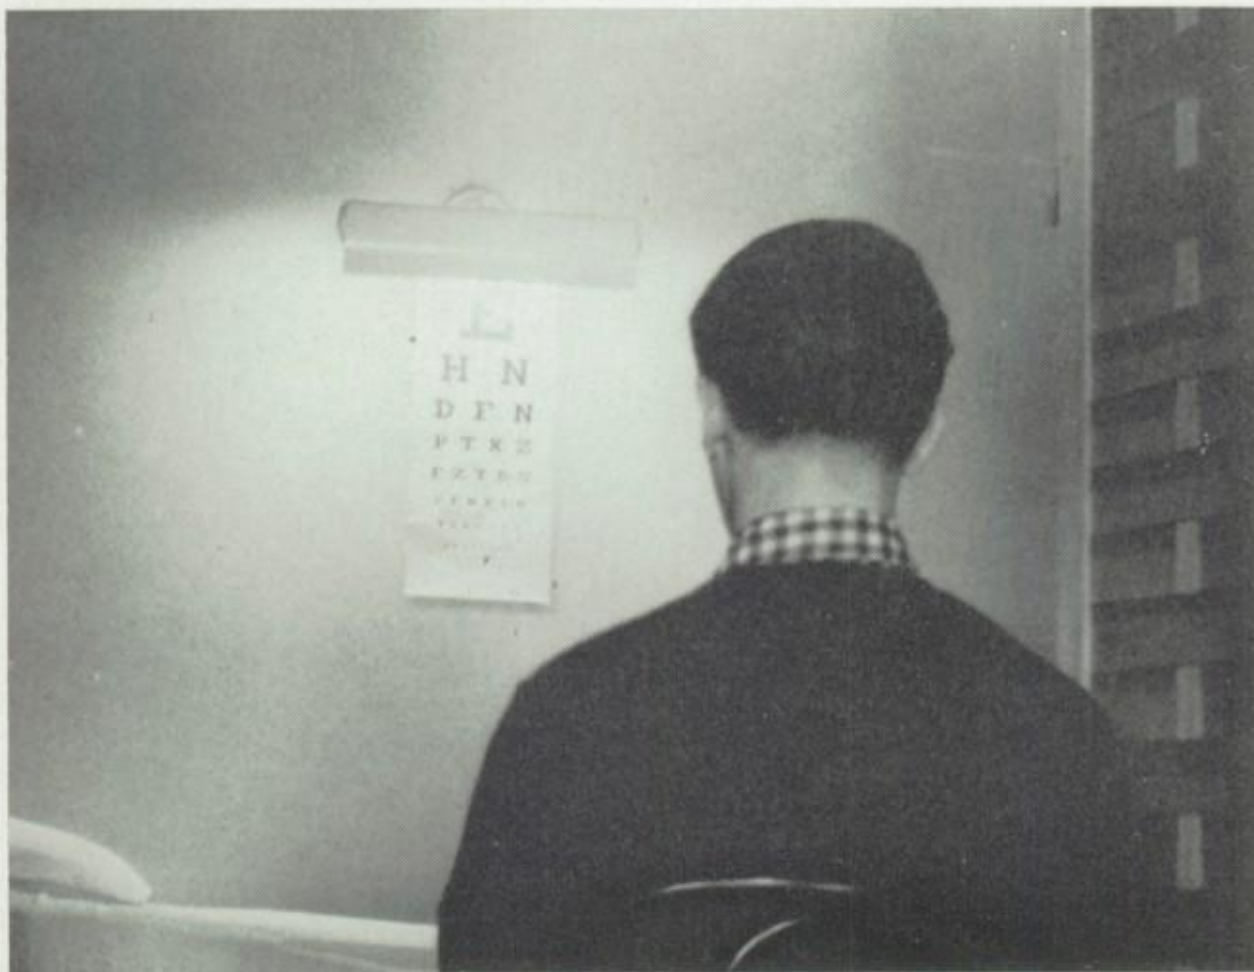

Commercial Law teaches the student the importance of law, and its value to individuals, to business, and to society. Besides the actual class work, a better understanding of man's rights and duties is obtained through debates and court sessions held in class.

Commercial Geography offers in its classes the study of the welfare of the world and of its problems. The student is also acquainted with America's natural resources and the part they play in the industry and commerce of the world.

A complete nursing station is located in room 224. This miniature "hospital" is under the direction of Sr. Mary Aloysius R. S. M., whose service is available to all who need her aid. An average of 25 students a day receives attention and care in this department.

An annual check-up by the nurse and the County X-Ray for tuberculosis is given to the freshman. This record remains on file until the student graduates.

Room 108

Attendance Office

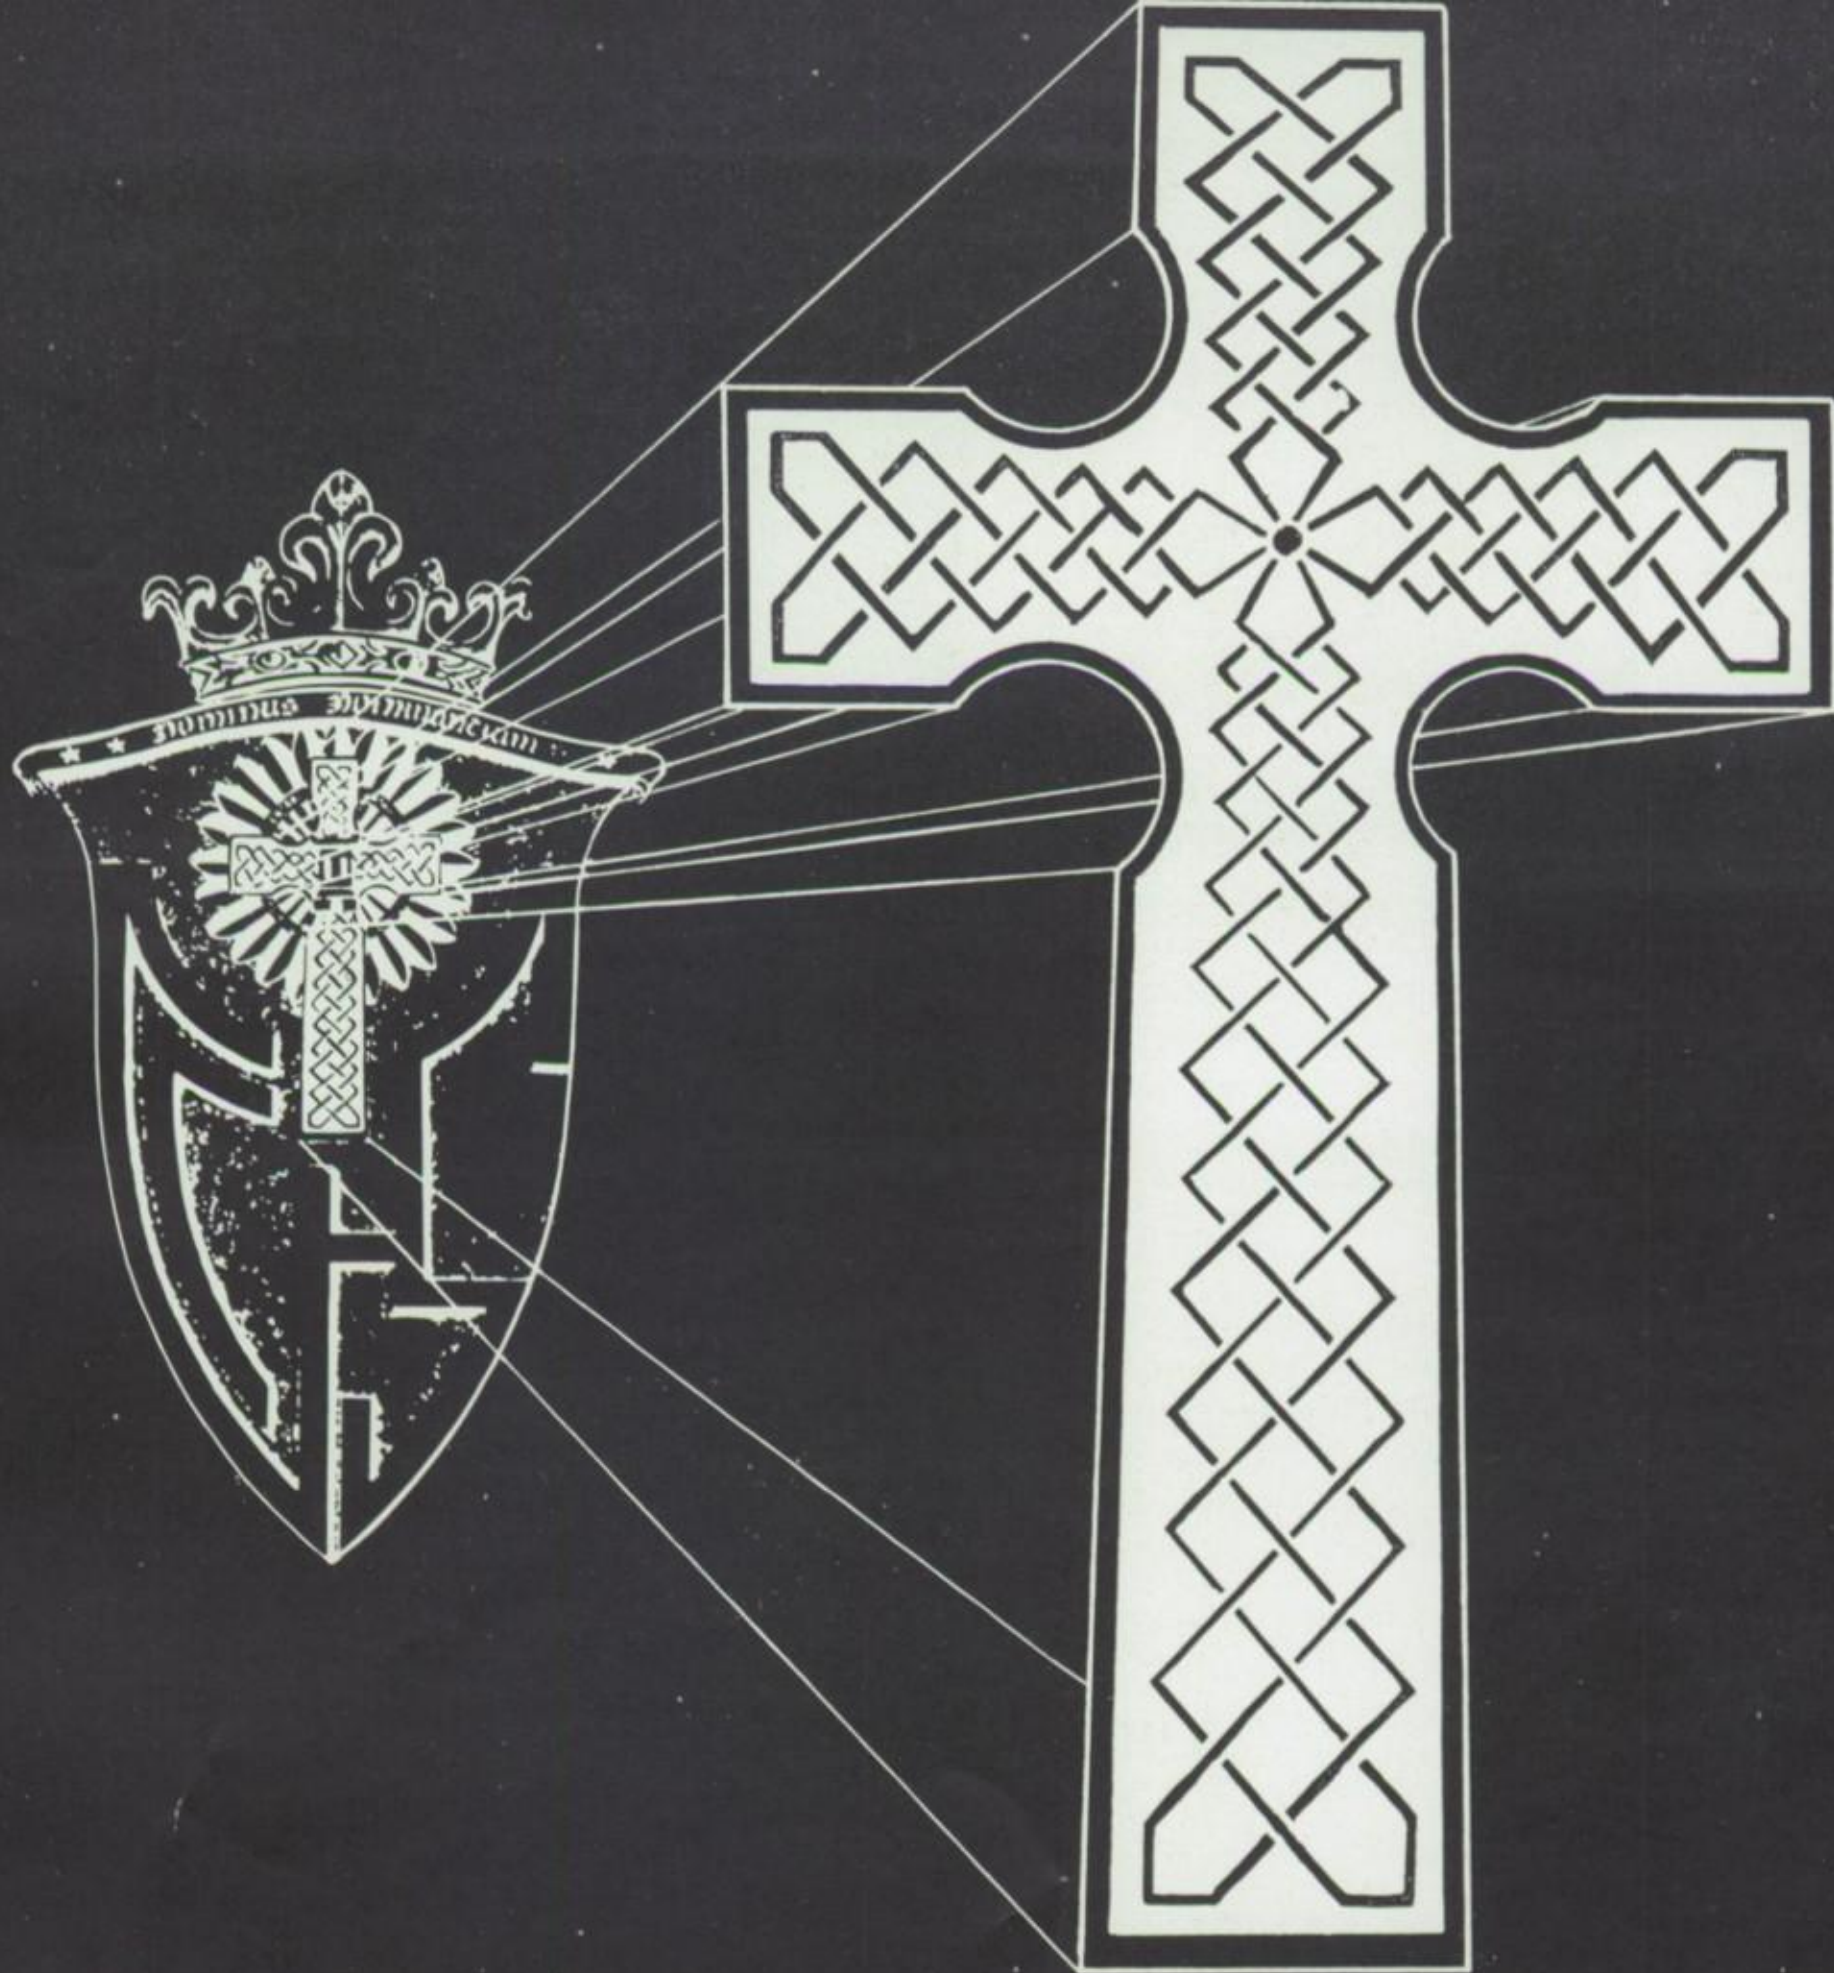

One of the busiest rooms in the school is the Attendance Office, where, under the direction of Sister Anita and Sister Loretta, O. S. F., all absence and tardiness is checked.

These important and necessary tasks are carried out by the use of pink, white, and blue slips, depending on the nature of the offense.

This office also plays an important part in the operation of penalty hall. All students who serve penalties must sign their names acknowledging their presence. This is then sent to the office and checked against the tardy slips.

Coach Fred George

Coach F. George

The Athletic department at Central, not only in the major sports but also in the minor sports, has been greatly strengthened by the interest of Mr. George and his associates.

In 1954, Mr. George fielded a fine Central football team, although not a championship team, winning four of nine decisions. It is a wide spread opinion that many of the games were decided in the last minutes and the victory could have gone either way.

In 1955, Mr. George's last year of coaching at Central, the varsity record was four wins, five defeats and one tie.

In June Mr. George will leave Central and take up his new duties as coach at Cleveland Latin High School, but the fine work he has done here during his two year stay will never be forgotten.

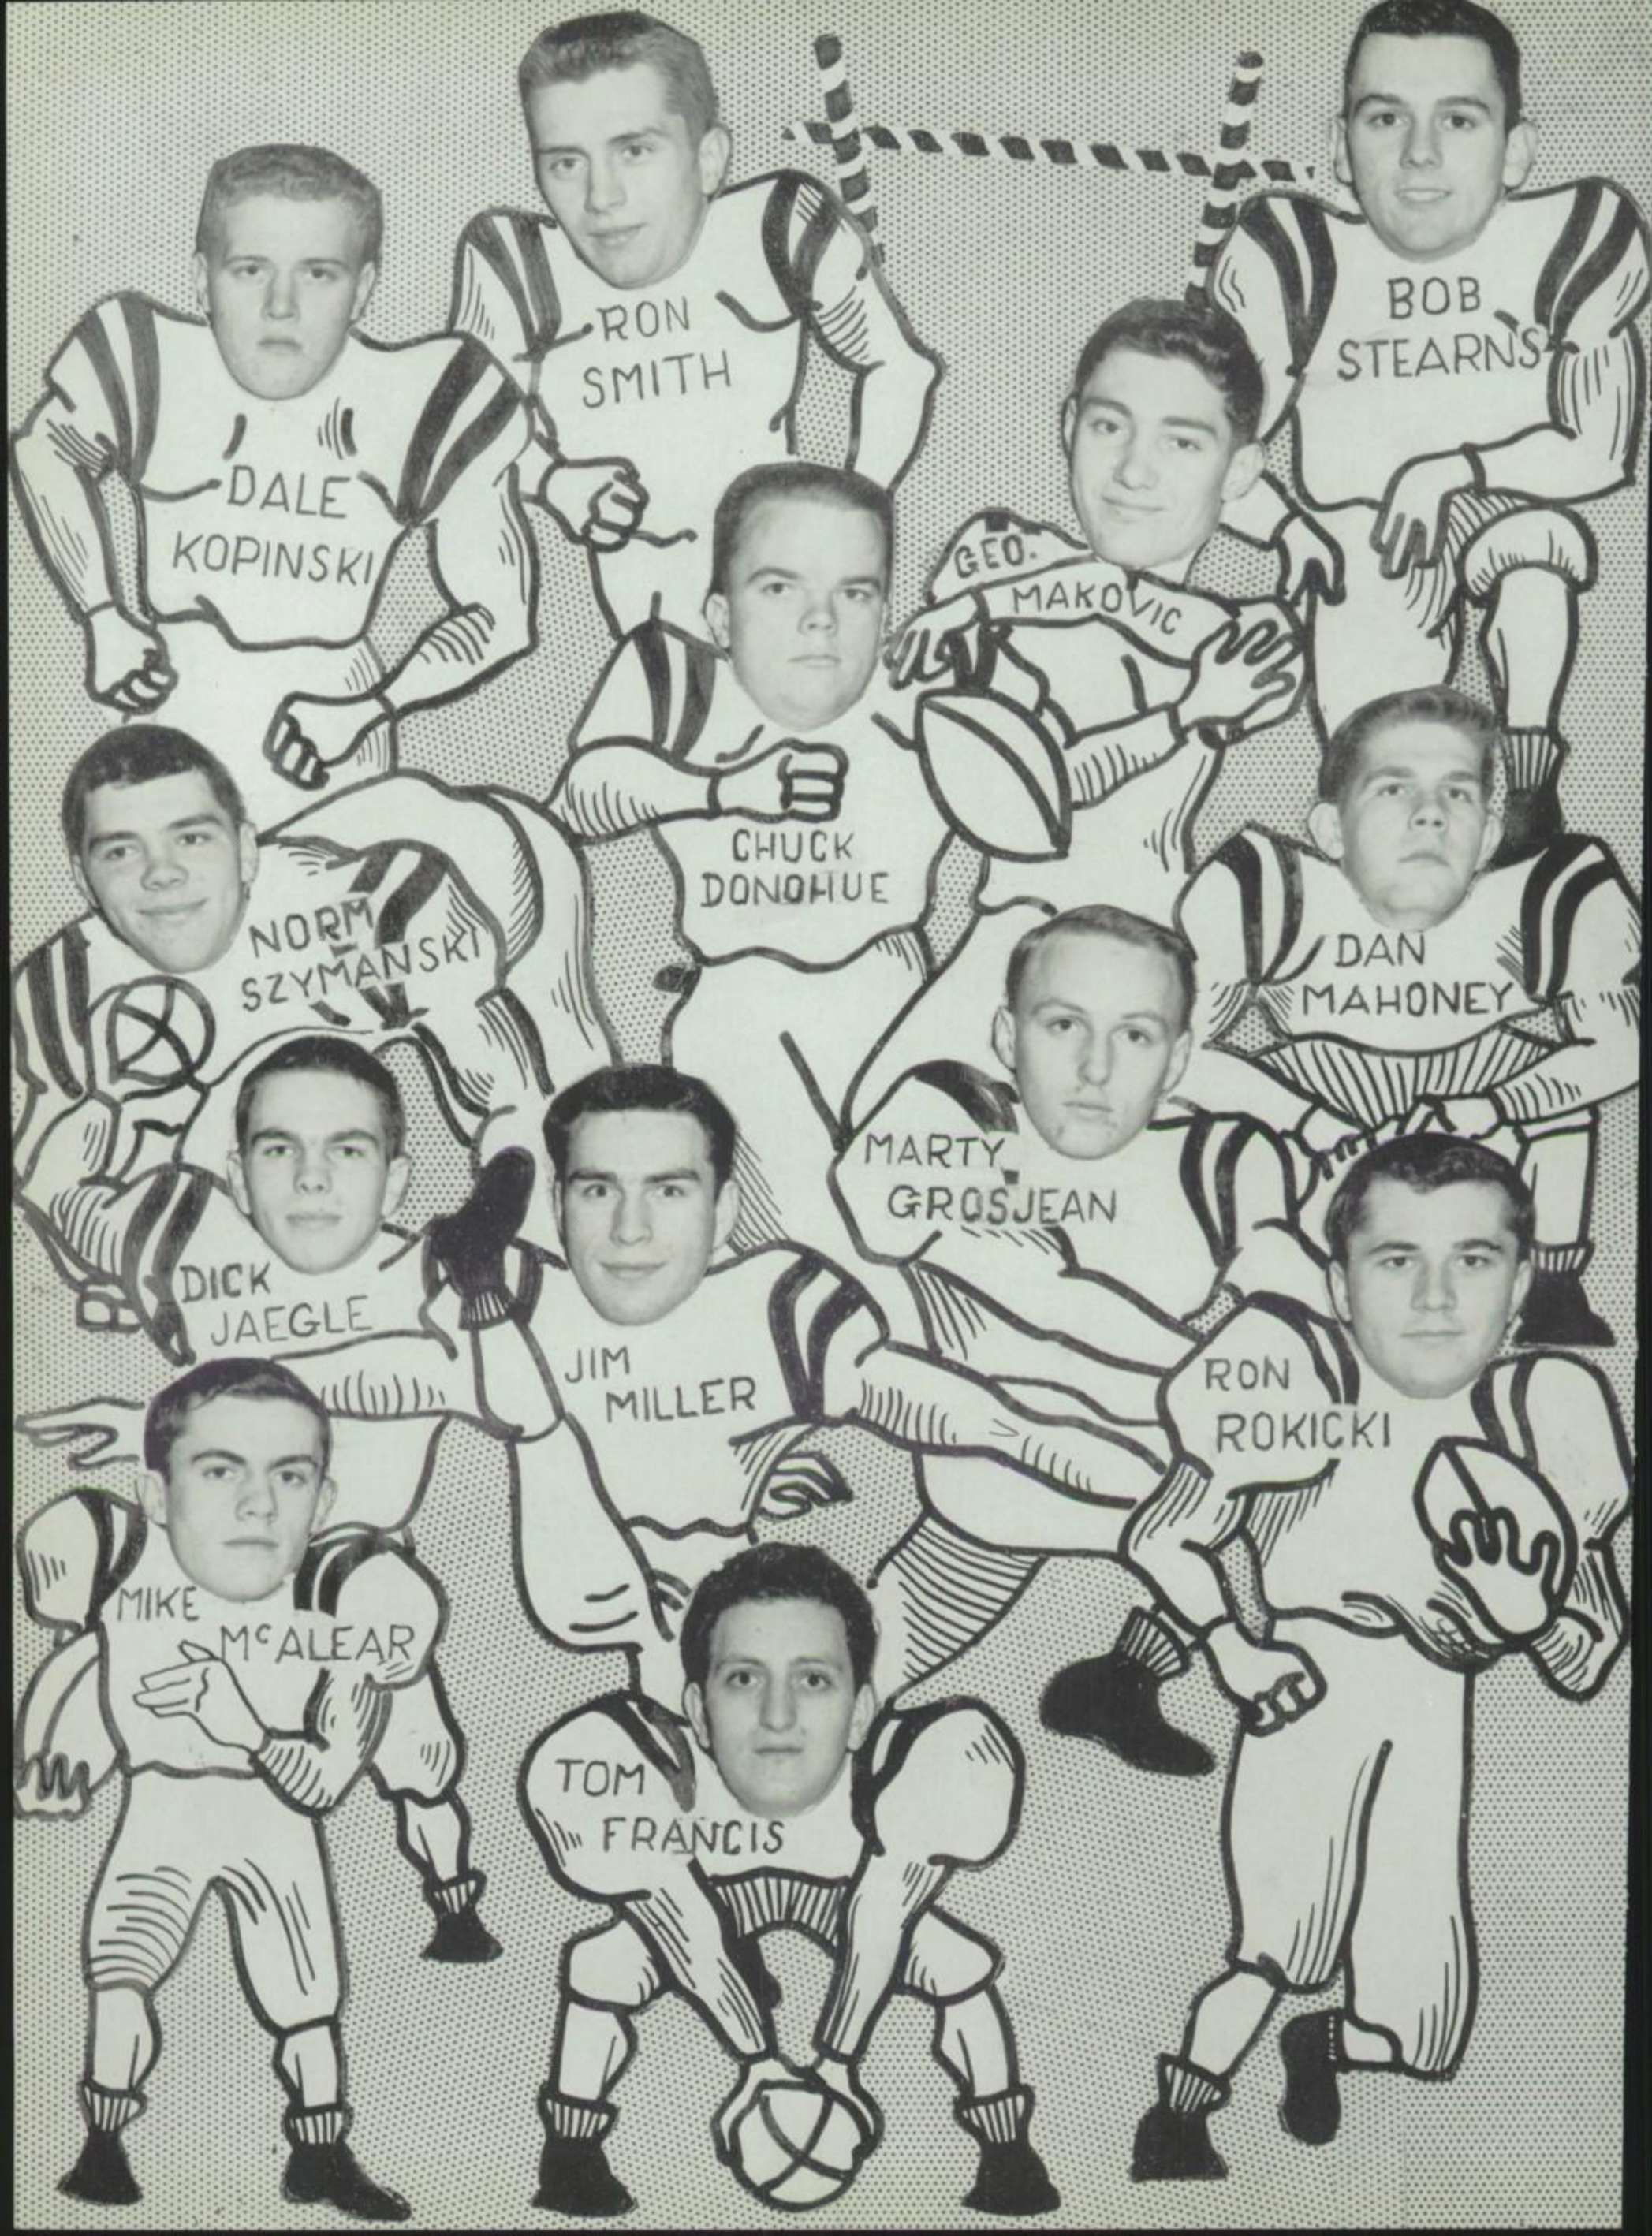

Coach Dan Piloseno

Mr. Piloseno, after two years at Central, produced a hard charging line. This line, although not the biggest in the city, showed its worth by its great spirit and fine sportsmanship. Although much of his work has gone unnoticed by the student body, the players on the team were impressed by his cooperation and willingness to work.

Mr. Piloseno's work has not been entirely devoted to the varsity. He has also promoted the newly organized intramural program and as director of physical education, he has striven long and hard to make Central complete in its athletic program.

Baby Irish

Maintain Scholarship and Sportsmanship

Coach R. Finn

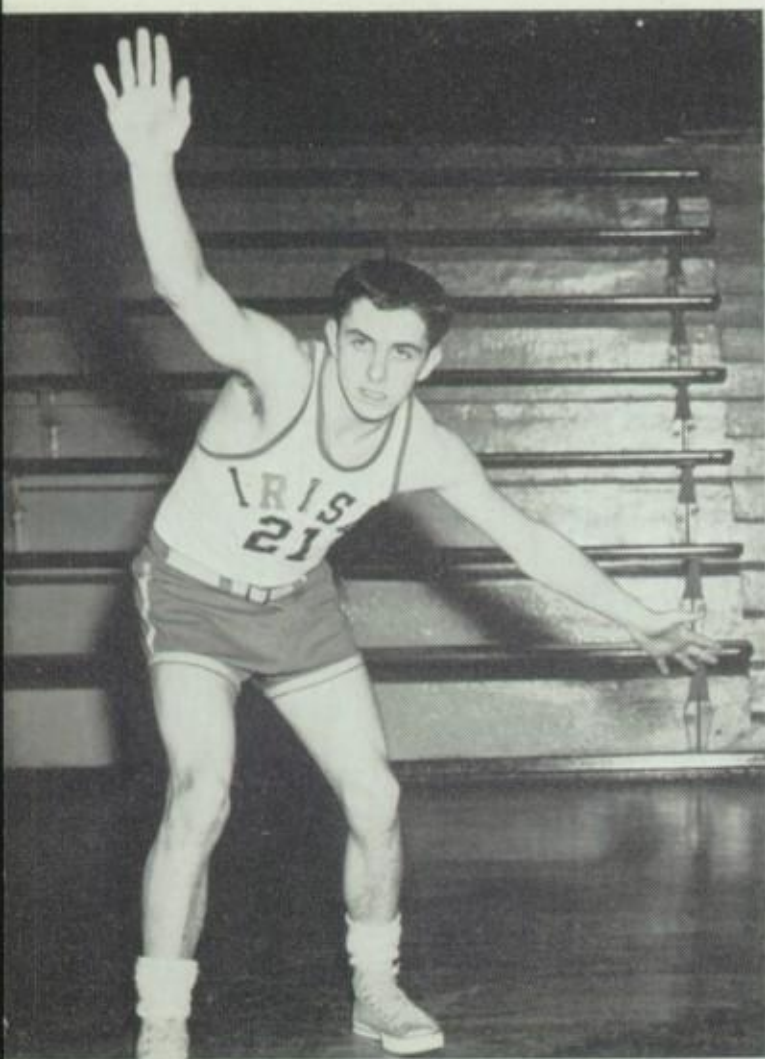

The "Baby Irish" finished the '55 grid season with three wins, two losses, one tie. This, however, does not give a realistic view of the fight and determination which permeated this fine team. The squad is under the able direction of Mr. Dick Finn, who has been chosen to replace Mr. Fred George as Director of Athletics.

For the first time at Central a scholarship trophy program has been inaugurated to encourage freshman athletes to get good grades and improve on them every six weeks. The improvement is figured on a complicated point system.

Average	Points
93-100	15 plus 5 for every gradation above 93
85- 92	10 plus 4 for every gradation above 85
77- 84	7 plus 3 for every gradation above 77
70- 76	5 plus 2 for every gradation above 70
60- 69	2 for every gradation above 60
5 points are added to each of these for gradation improvement from previous six-weeks.

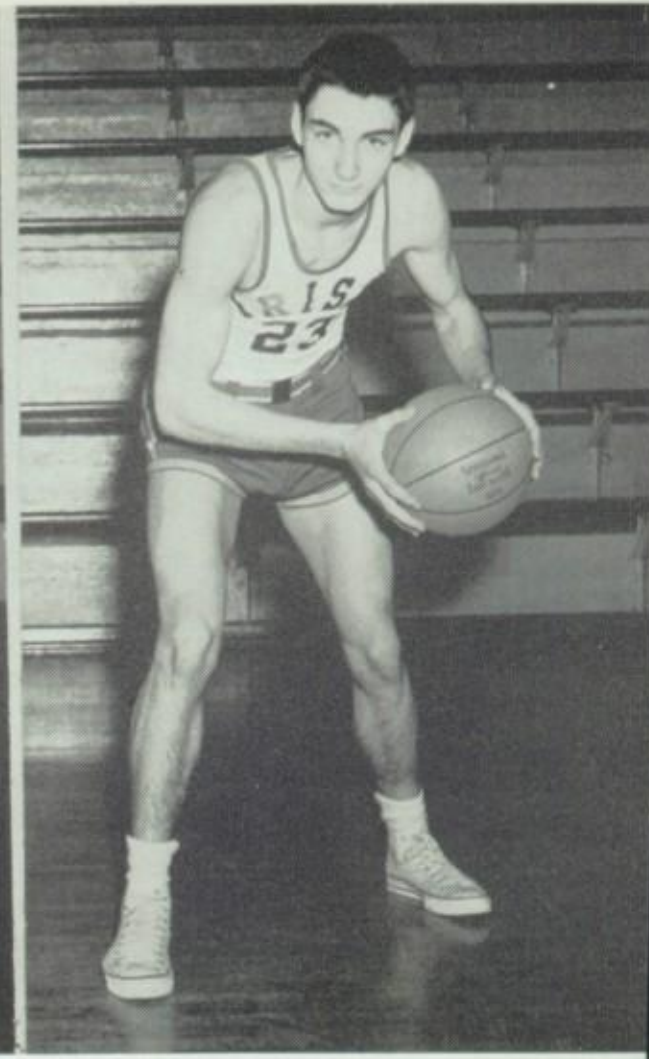

The freshman team has shown promise both scholastically and athletically and a successful season will be expected next year.

Varsity Quintet

Displays High Caliber Play

C.C.H.S. basketball team followed the tradition of previous teams by representing our school with high caliber play. Although the team didn't win the championship it remained in contention throughout the season, having plenty to say about who was to win the championship.

Mr. George, coaching the basketball team for the first time, did a high quality job of piloting the young quintet throughout the season. He introduced a new system which proved to be successful and his team displayed the toughest defense in the city despite a lack of height. Although at times hampered by this fact, the team overcame this by a tremendous will to win. The team played a type of game which drew more interest to those watching than the games played by a team which might have finished above them.

Having two sophomores and two juniors seeing plenty of action, the cage team for next year should have a bright future.

The quality of the team is shown by the Blade All-City selections. Don Jurek gained a second team berth and Buzz Fournier, Tony Rejent and Ron Zak were among those who received honorable mention.

Lightweights

City Basketball Champs

The lightweights did it again! Not satisfied with just a city championship in football, the champs, under the capable direction of Coach Tom McHugh, brought home a first place standing in basketball.

The lightweight cagers broke out of a tie for first place in the last game of the season to lay claim to the championship. The sophomore quintet played a balanced game, being just as adept at making up plays as breaking them up, which was shown by their record of 11 wins and four losses. From all indications, some of these boys will be valuable assets to the varsity in '57.

Coach Dick Finn, in his first year at Central, piloted the freshmen to a successful basketball season. Although the team started slowly, they gained experience and finished the season in grand style, winning seven straight. They finished the season with an eleven-four record, and copped the Lima High Tournament winning all three of their games.

Cliff Harestead and Ron Zak were chosen to receive the Annual Lettermen's Trophy. Cliff, an outstanding player on the football team, and Ron, who helped spark the basketball team, had their names inscribed on the trophy along with those of the previous years.

Cliff, a senior guard on the football team, played both offense and defense, and was awarded an honorable mention spot on the All-City squad.

Ron, a junior guard on the basketball team, will be back next year hoping to lead the team on to victories. He was among those gaining an honorable mention berth on the All-City Basketball team.

Spirited Seven

Excites Students Enthusiam

Night after night the same familiar sounds could be heard coming from the gym. The cheerleaders were once again diligently practicing in order to lead the cheers of Central's student body.

Their enthusiasm was reflected by the tremendous school spirit shown by the students at every game. A fine example of this was the spirit shown by both the cheerleaders and student body at the final basketball game for CCHS in the tournament. Even after the team had lost, the cheering continued as our team left the floor.

It was this enthusiasm, whether their team was winning or losing, which gained for Central such a wonderful record of sportsmanship.

Team Assistants

Keep Players, Equipment In Shape

The managers played one of the most important parts in the athletic program. They devoted much of their valuable time to attending practices, keeping equipment in shape, and assisting the coaches when they were needed.

It was by their willingness and cooperation that things were run smoothly for the football and basketball teams. They were also helpful in the minor sports, to both coaches and players.

High Quality

Reflected By Success of Teams

If the success of the players is a scale for the quality of cheerleaders, there'll be no questions about the efficiency of our lightweight six. Faithful to their job of pepping up the students, they kept the cheers roaring at the lightweight games.

With this background behind them, as they step forward into the position of varsity cheerleaders, they should be able to lead onward to championship the '56-'57 football and basketball teams.

Eucharistic-Marian

To increase each Centralite's devotion to our Eucharistic Lord and His Blessed Mother is the primary purpose of the Eucharistic-Marian Committee.

This end is achieved by promoting the daily recitation of the rosary after Mass in the school chapel during October and May, the voluntary visits to the chapel during lunch periods, the encouragement of daily Mass attendance, and the frequent reception of Holy Communion.

The committee concludes the year's activities with the annual May Convocation, in which the whole school participates.

Apostolic

The aim of the Apostolic Committee is to transmit the heritage of a strong spiritual program to the youth of Central and to lead many souls to the Divine Teacher. The members discuss mission problems and future spiritual and material aid to the mission fund. Many Central students participate in the National Mission Convention, held every year in August at Notre Dame University.

Besides sponsoring a faculty tea, Book Week and compiling lists of good books for teenagers, the Literature Committee has found time, this year, to hold panel discussions of authors and their works at their bi-weekly meetings.

This group promoted several displays in the library, in which reviews and criticisms were featured.

St. Hilda Guild

One of the greatest privileges of the girls' art class is caring for the Chapel of Christ the King. This work of the St. Hilda Guild, is dedicated to the glory of God through Mary and is divided into three orders: apprentice, journeymen, and master, each with its own set of duties. To qualify for any one order, the art student must perfect certain duties associated with that order. Her qualification is based on a record of point system.

St. John Berchmans

Members of this society are offered the opportunities to serve daily Mass and the First Friday Benediction in the school chapel, to take part in the May Convocation each year, and to actively participate in Central's annual retreat and the Senior Day of Recollection.

This organization, which was founded at Central in 1936, has as its primary aim, the fostering of religious vocations among its members.

At Central, the aim of the YCS is to serve, in the persons of one's fellow students, the needs of Christ the Student. YCS members, at the cost of personal effort and sacrifice, endeavor to promote—on a personal and on an institutional basis—whatever will effect a more happy and successful student life.

This year the YCS sponsored the Freshman Orientation Program; the school's first "Faculty Appreciation Week"; the Retreat Pamphlet Library Service; the Diocesan Study Day and the Day of Recollection; and with a Faculty Committee, the annual Career Project.

Catholic Art Apostolate

Central's Catholic Art Apostolate's, a division of the National Catholic Art Apostolate, has as its chief aim "To restore all things to Christ."

Membership is now open to all boys and girls in the art classes. Established in 1950, in the boys' art department, the CAA was opened to the girls' art classes in 1952. Both groups conduct separate meetings in their respective art rooms where they discuss the possibilities of raising the standard of the art appreciation and the reviving of a creative Christian art among the student body. These ideas are expressed and displayed on the CAA Bulletin Board in the school's main lobby.

Future Nurses

Carol Czyzewski, Suzanne Harvey, Janet Williams, Arlene Printke

"May the willingness to serve others be uppermost in our hearts." This pledge made by the members of the FNA at the induction ceremonies, one of the big events of the year, gives the purpose of the club in a few well-chosen words.

In its three years of existence the FNA has organized girls already definitely interested in nursing and has helped undecided girls to choose their careers. Guest speakers at the monthly meetings tell the members about the requisites for and the different phases of, the career of nursing.

Future Teachers

Mary King, Jeanne Lewis, Mary Kay Conyers, Sue Camp

During the past six years the Future Teachers of America has been an active organization at Central. Its members attend lectures and social functions as well as the club meetings.

The purpose of the FTA Club is exploratory, prevocational, and character forming. Its establishment is threefold: (1) to aid young people in getting the facts and opportunities of the teaching field in their locale; (2) to study the lives of great teachers in order to receive inspiration from them; (3) and to cultivate good character, and to develop leadership, qualities essential to a teacher.

Dramatics Club

Michael Coyle, Howard Bruss, Thomas McColl, Judy Stewart, Carolyn Mattimoe, Lawrence Martin

The activities of the Dramatics Club began with bi-weekly meetings after school at which the members discussed possible one-act plays to be put into production. The purpose of Central's Dramatics Club is to interest its members in the theatrical world and appreciate the talents of the old master.

Math Club

Sheila O'Loughlin, Richard Jaegle, Marcella Bialecki

This club was inaugurated last year and is an outgrowth of the "Al-geo-trig" staff. Composed of junior and senior mathematics students, its primary purpose is to interest its members in phases of math not studied in the classroom.

It achieves its end by promoting comprehensive contests for ambitious students, promotion of student mathematics conventions, study of college entrance exams for prospective candidates, sponsoring assembly programs, student research and project exhibits.

The main project of the math students this year is based upon the theme of "Man's Conquest of Space" in conjunction with the Geo-Physics Year.

Civics Club

Joseph Druffel, Carole Czyzewski, Lawrence Martin, Sally Miller, Howard Bruss

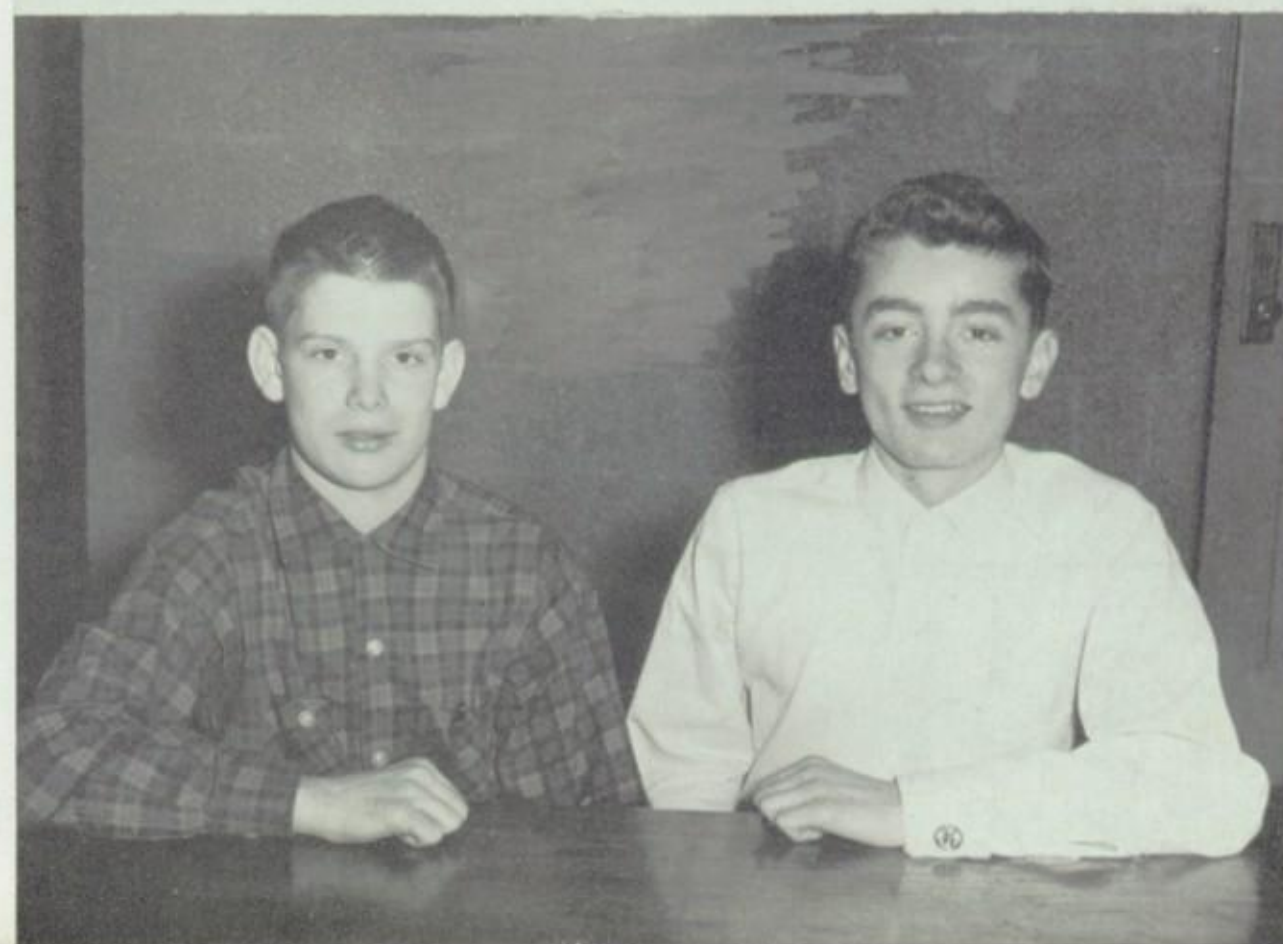

Christ the King Civics Club in its fourth year of existence holds its charter from the Commission on Citizenship of the Catholic University of America. It is also affiliated with the Junior Council on World Affairs in Toledo and as a member participated this year in the Mock Council of Europe held at the University of the Toledo, the Institute on World Affairs and study tour which took a good number of its members to Washington and New York during the Easter vacation. It is primarily concerned in creating a lively participation in such in the years ahead.

Aquinas History Club

Paul Fogel, William Krall

Open to all sophomore and junior history students, the Aquinas History Club promotes interest in current events associated with class matter or local history.

Discussions, both explanatory and argumentative, are sponsored by groups during the meetings held after school. An historic excursion to a designated place of interest, is a spring activity.

Shutterbugs

Display Photographic Talent

The 4-C Club (Central Catholic Camera Club) active throughout the school year learns the fundamentals of photography which enable them to participate in the National Contest for photography students. The development of the cultural aspects and praise in this field are earned by the students who choose this activity as their hobby. Each week the members meet to become familiar with the essentials of this intriguing subject.

Ronald DeMars, Bonnie Veselka, Nancy Knight, William Plummer.

Nature Lovers

Prepare Scientific Exhibits

The appreciation of the universe around us and of all God's creation is the most prominent aim of Central's Biology Club. Studying the workings of man and animals through experiments enables these students to understand God's intricate design of nature. The club members prepare exhibits for the Science Convention held in Bowling Green. This year their projects were numbered among the top entries.

Radio Club

Novices Obtain Licenses

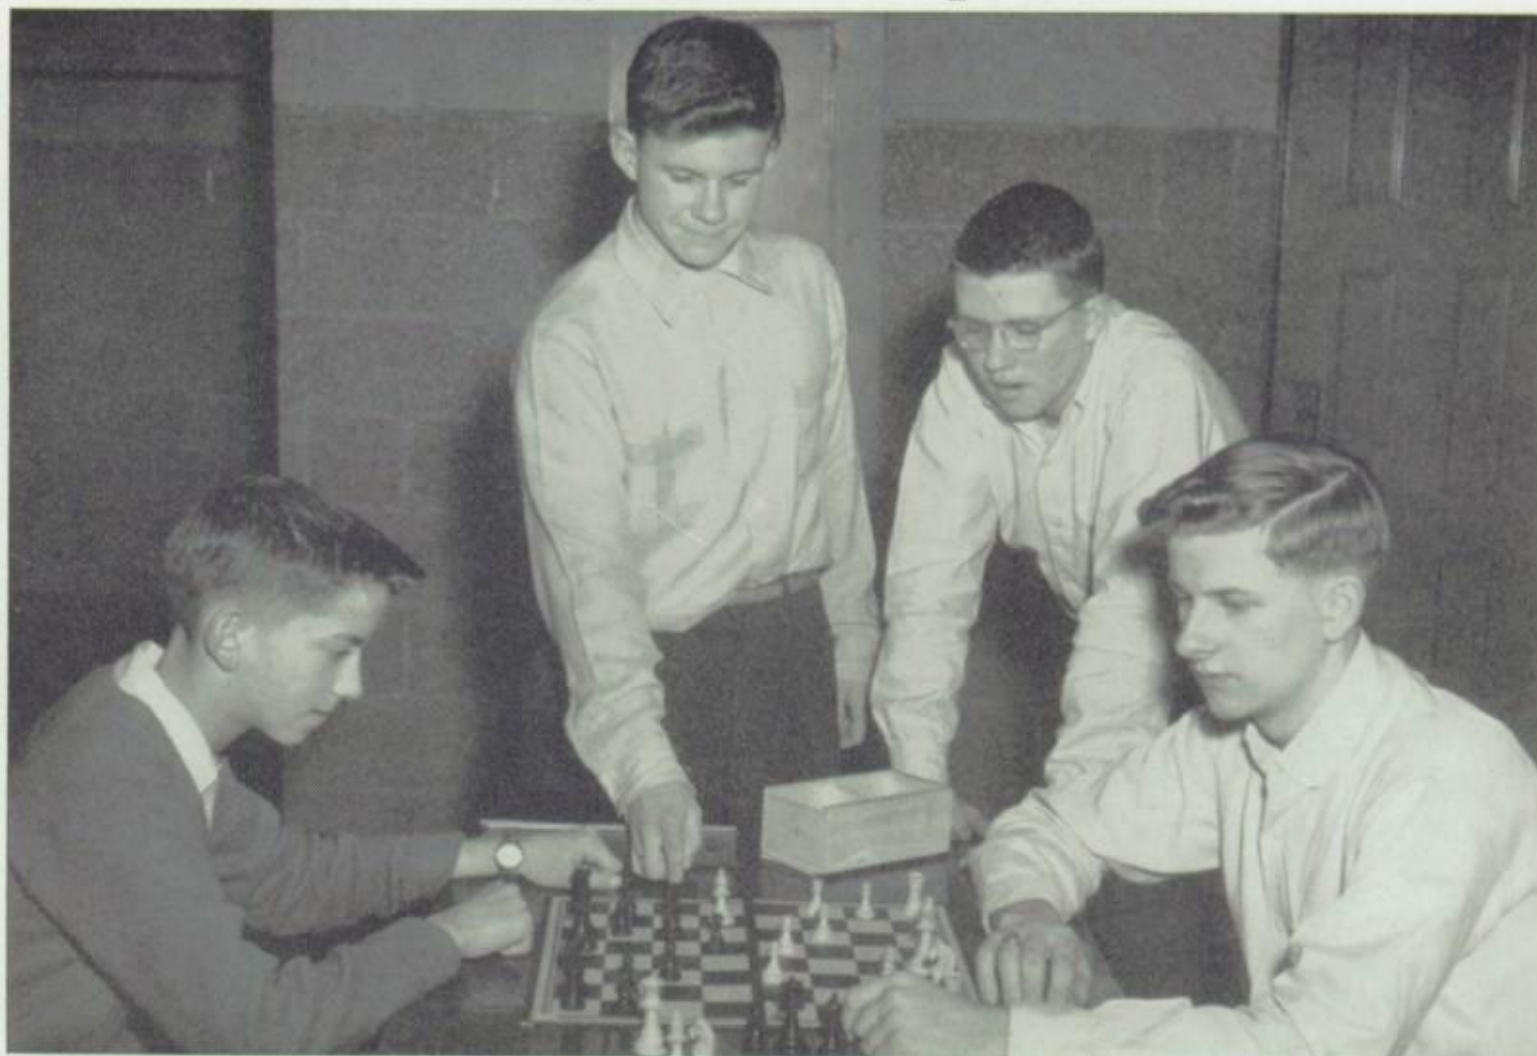

For four years the Radio Club has encouraged students to obtain their "ham" licenses and to learn code and theory. It is affiliated with other school radio clubs in the city and state, and showed an increased enrollment this year. Meetings are held in the station located on the lower floor of the music building.

Royal Game

Develops Real Competitors

To promote Chess as a recreational outlet and to establish it among the regular inter-high school competitive contests, the Chess Club seeks closer relations with the other Toledo high schools to assist in the development of a true school spirit through encouraging those virtues of character and personality which are found in all real competitors — in Victory: Modesty — in Defeat: Courage — but always: Thoughtful.

Student's Voice

Functions Through Student Council

Central's Student Council functions as the voice of the student body, and as the center of the student government. Opinions on religious, social, and academic problems are aired through the Student Council.

In the past the Council has undertaken such projects as: the Talent Assembly, Area Student Council Dance, Color Day, Tag Day, Junior-Senior Prom, and special drives, such as, Community Chest, Catholic Chronicle, and sales tax stamps.

However this year Central's Council has undergone a tremendous change which has been entitled the "New Deal". In order to make the Council more efficient a Class Council, and the Student Senate, was incorporated. They have accomplished a list of new activities including Homecoming Ceremonies, Polio drive, a Christmas Dance, and Area Student Council projects.

Central has also made contributions to the Area Student Council. Paul Sullivan has created for it the official Seal, which in four parts represents the four areas of government . . . spiritual, social, academic and physical. This seal will appear on all documents, projects, and undertakings of the Toledo Area Student Council.

THE Cen

The chief source of information at Central Catholic High, referred to as the "Centric" is anticipated by all the students. Making its appearance bi-weekly, it conveys the news, social events, sports, and other extracurricular activities of the school to the students, faculty, and alumni.

With these views in mind, the journalism classes are continually striving forward to meet the demands of the readers. Achieving these ends are the co-editors, Shirley Ehle and Paul Sullivan, assisted by members of the editorial and business staff.

Last year's nameplate which had been in existence for just one year has been replaced by an effective reversed heading, designed by the artistically talented co-editor, Paul Sullivan.

At the school press convention held in Bowling Green, the Centric has consistently merited an excellent rating among the school papers.

This year, at the 17 annual convention of the Northwestern Ohio District Journalism Association at Bowling Green State University, the Centric merited a Superior rating and won two individual writing awards.

Centripetal

Compiled Under New System

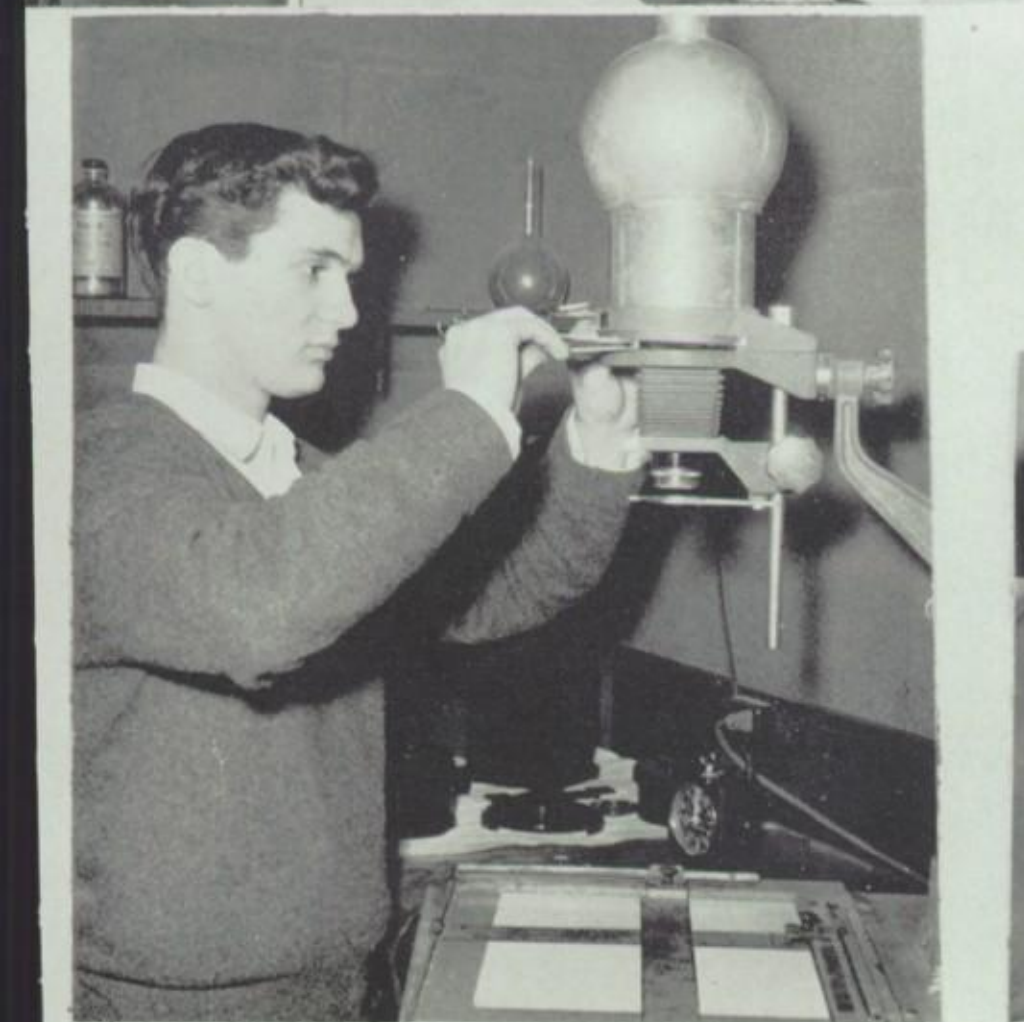

Just as every filing cabinet has a definite system, so likewise the 1956 Centripetal was edited through a systematic process. Other years the yearbook was compiled after school by seniors who could afford to relinquish the time. This year it was prepared, almost entirely, by the seniors who were picked because of their special interest in accomplishing this task.

Interwoven in the class period, which was held each day, was the study of journalism, for which the staff received a credit. Everyone in the class was given his special position, ranging anywhere from the co-editors to the circulation managers. Each individual was responsible for the work that came under the heading of his position.

With the exception of the patron campaign, in which the entire senior class participated, and the taking and mounting of class photography by senior Boys' Art, there was no outside help that involved other seniors.

This set-up has enabled the staff to develop systematically each section of the book.

JOAN of LORRAINE

Senior Class

Presents a Play Within a Play

Unique in production, the Senior Class play was a "play within a play". It was a dress rehearsal of a Broadway play, "Joan of Lorraine". Mr. Masters (Jack Liwo) directed the show with the humorous assistance of his stage manager, Al (Ray Hood), and Tessie (Kay Elliott).

The story begins with the childhood of Joan D'Arc (Patricia Kuchers) with her family. Her brothers, Jean D'Arc (Ramon Gonzales), Pierre (James Seitz), her uncle, Durand Laxort (Richard Garand), Isabelle (Eileen Hickok) and Jaques (Bernard Kokocinski) are distressed with her vision. St. Margaret (Barbara Hodgson), St. Catherine (Carole Czyzewski), and St. Michael (Tom Miehring) appear to her and prophesy her destiny. Yet, her friends, Poulengy (James Pocisk), Jean DeMetz (Charles Gallagher), and Alain Chartier (Otto Wenzler) provide for a journey to the Dauphin (Tom McColl) who was destined to become king. La Hire (Lawrence Martin) and Dunois (Gene Coyle) are lead into battle by Joan and she becomes a heroine of France through her victories. At court, however, her enemies, Archbishop of Rheims (Mike Coyle) and Tremoille (Tom Bruhn), jealous of her successes, plot her defeat. On her own, Joan goes into battle where she is captured by the English. In spite of the efforts of Father Massieu (Howard Bruss) to save her, Thomas de Courcelles (Ronald DeMars) condemns her to death, by fire, for withcraft.

For a different effect, during the play the producer and the star walk out on the show. But all turns out well as the curtains close.

The Senior Class Play was presented, by Mrs. E. Weiher, from November 17 through the 20 on Central's stage.

1. Now listen to me . . .
3. "Isn't he a nice lamb, Joan?"
5. "Kneel there, Tessie."

Whirls a Merry Carousel

This year the Music Department presented the musical play "Carousel". This fantastic musical drama is based on Ferenc Molnar's "Liliom". Rodgers and Hammerstein gave the play distinctly American feeling and definitely native idiom — including Virginia creepers, lobsters, and clambakes.

In "Carousel" the tough Billy Bigelow (Terry Beuter) and the tender Julie (Mary Ann Sinay) are married—Julie against the warnings of the townspeople and Billy against the advice of the owner of the carousel, Mrs. Mullin (Marilyn Bialorucki), a woman violently and jealously in love with him. Because of the marriage Billy loses his job, becomes desperate, bullies his wife, and rages bitterly — until he learns that he is to become a father. To get money to bring up the coming child (of whom he is truly proud in prospect) he helps with a holdup, is persuaded against his will by Jigger Craigen (Michael Coyle), a shiftless sailor friend, to take part in a robbery, but he is caught in the act. In an attempt to avoid capture he is killed by a policeman.

He is allowed to return to earth for twenty-four hours, during which time he must perform one good deed. Billy is given a glimpse of his fifteen year-old unhappy daughter, Louise (Kay Elliott), and steals a star to give her when he arrives on earth. Awkward and blundering, he cannot persuade the girl to accept the gift. Angered by her refusal, he slaps her, but she is not hurt. His love transcends his roughness, and the slap feels like a kiss. The child is freed of her unhappiness and Julie knows that, in spite of everything, she did not make a mistake in marrying the man of her choice.

The leads were supported by equally important parts, Mr. Snow (James Klein), Carrie Pipperidge (Rosalie Dzingleski), and Nettie Fowler (Margaret Westmeyer).

Unforgettable numbers of the Operetta include "If I Loved You," "June Is Bustin' Out All Over," "When the Children Are Asleep," "What's the Use of Wonderin'," "You'll Never Walk Alone," the tender teasing "Mr. Snow," the robustious "This Was a Real Nice Clambake," the rowdy "Blow High, Blow Low," and the extended and serious "Soliloquy."

Music Department Includes Glee Club .

Mr. Gerald V. De Prisco, music director

*Musically Yours,
Jerry V. De Prisco*

The Glee Club or Mixed Chorus consisting of 90 members is conducted by Mr. Gerald V. De Prisco. This group appeared on television programs, participated in assemblies, went on Christmas caroling tours to the Bishop's residence, hospitals, and the Priests' and Nuns' residences. They form a major part of the musical program in connection with the football banquet, Spring Concert, May Convocation and Commencement Exercises. This year they gave a splendid performance of Rodgers and Hammerstein's musical drama, "Carousel".

Music contributes to the steady progress of civilization because it provides people with a means of expressing their highest aspirations and ideals.

Central's Music Department offers many opportunities to its students who are interested in music. Mr. Gerald V. De Prisco conducts the Band, Orchestra and Glee Club. Mr. Joseph Sainton teaches the string and wind instrument classes. These classes prepare students to participate in the band and orchestra. Sister Mary Almeda, R.S.M. conducts two choral groups of sophomore and freshman girls, classes in music appreciation and also classes in harmony and theory.

Band

The band composed of approximately sixty-five members under the direction of Mr. Gerald V. DePrisco, is a hard working unit of the Music Department. Practice during class and drill after school have enabled this group to present many fine performances at assemblies and pep rallies. Its participation in the May Convocation and the Commencement Exercises is worthy of commendation and praise.

This year's Band won a high place in the All-City high school competition for half-time shows at the football games. This was an evident result of their long hours of practice and hard work.

Music Appreciation

Students who have a genuine enthusiasm for and a love of music may acquire an adequate background in the history of music and the evolution of musical composition, by taking courses in music appreciation and harmony and theory. In the music appreciation classes attention is directed toward an appreciation of the aesthetic qualities of music, the recognition of specific features and form of composition, the growth of knowledge about composers, performers, instruments, types of voices, historical connections between the music of various periods, and such relationship of music to other arts and social trends as is pertinent and helpful.

One of the main purposes of the study of harmony is to lead the student to become aware of the harmonic beauties of music. This can be done only through the development of a technical knowledge of harmony. The student's musical imagination is further stimulated to express his own musical ideas in original composition.

Sophomore and freshman Girls' Choruses participate in assemblies throughout the year, help to spread holiday cheer by caroling programs at the Little Sisters of the Poor, the Orphanage, and at the hospitals.

1. Music appreciation students study note placement.
2. Mr. Sainton gives the downbeat.
3. Sing louder—we can't hear you.
4. "A Stranger in Paradise".
5. Now let's all try, "On Top of Old Smoky".

Orchestra

The orchestra comprising twenty-one fine instrumental performers has given audiences many moments of enjoyment. Under the baton of Mr. Gerald V. De Prisco they performed at assemblies, provided incidental music for the Senior Play, participated in the Spring Concert, and played the musical accompaniments for the Operetta "Carousel".

1. Strings: Bill Brady, Judy Zoll, Steve Toth, Karl Schlachter.
2. Brass: Dennis Huber, Ray Sotkiewicz, Richard Lewandowski, Mike Lawniczak.
3. Strings: Joe Myers, Paul Kwiatkowski, Raphael Eulski, Janice Mielcorek, Joseph Wernert, Donald Noble.
4. Drums: Dean Manson.
5. Woodwinds: Mary Kay Conyers, Jeanne Mizerny, Thomas Harrison, John Riha-check, Peggy King.

Scene of Homecoming Game

Another first this year was the Homecoming Ceremony and the homecoming queen. The purpose of this new project, sponsored by the Student Council, was to welcome the alumni back to Central.

Queen, Arlene Printke, who was chosen after two eliminating contests, had as her attendants Margie Andrzejewski, Marian Adamski, Jackie Pawlicki, and Pat Kuchers.

Arlene Printke

Convocation

Central's Picturesque Coronation

The annual May Convocation is an anticipated event among the students. A procession of acolytes and Mary's court (the co-crowners and assistants) proceeds to the front campus where a statute of Mary, Central's Queen, elevated on a pedestal, is crowned by the May King and Queen. The ceremony includes the recitation of the rosary, singing of hymns by the student body, and a sermon in honor of Mary delivered by a guest speaker.

 Row 2: Barbara Neuser, Monsignor Harrington, Shirley Ehle, Judy Piotrowski.

Remember Mother (Prinestrang's class) and Judy Michaels. I think I'll always remember that. He was really a great teacher and besides missing around we learned a lot. Have fun this summer and be good. Call me sometime. I wish you could have gone out those couple of times but I know it was kind of late. Loads and loads of luck to a sweet girl who deserves it. May God bless you.
